Sixty A. F. L. Members Say Contractor Broke Oral Agreement With Unions

Steel Is Quiet

Two Steel Walkouts Are Ended in Ohio and Michigan

(By The Associated Press)
Two short-lived steel strikes were ended today, but navy officers saw a definite obstruction to the national defense program in a work stoppage at a $2,500,000 navy ammunition dump being built near Fallbrook, Calif.

Sixty A. F. L. workers walked out at the Fallbrook job last Thursday. A spokesman declined to disclose details of the dispute, but contended that the contractors had violated an oral agreement with the unions and had failed to negotiate a written contract.

The navy stated that the union demanded living allowances and pay for traveling time, concessions which it was declared would increase the cost of the project by $250,000 to $300,000.

The two steel labor disputes involved C. I. O. steelworkers unions, the Great Lakes Steel Corporation at Ecorse, Mich., and the Copperweld Steel Company at Warren, Ohio. C. I. O. officials had termed both walkouts unauthorized.

Contract Is Signed
The Great Lakes trouble ended when the company and union signed a contract previously agreed upon. Pickets posted at the plant had declared they were striking because the contract had not been signed and because vacation schedules had not been posted as agreed in advance.

Settlement terms at the Copperweld factory provided for rehiring all but six strikers. In walking out, the union men had demanded the rehiring of 12 foremen who, they said, had quit rather than carry out company orders for the discharge of 30 workmen.

The conciliation service at Washington, D. C., announced last night a tentative agreement had been reached for settling a wage dispute involving about 5,000 employees of the White Motor Company, Cleveland. The C. I. O. Auto Workers union has been seeking a wage increase and threatening to strike if one was not forthcoming, but details of the union demands and the tentative settlement were not made public.

The White Company has contracted to build $70,000,000 worth of scout cars for the army. After a two-day meeting at Cincinnati, members of the International Union of Aluminum Workers of America (C. I. O.) decided to seek elimination of sectional wage differentials in plants of the Aluminum Company of America. N. N. Bonarich, union president, said 8,500 of the firm's 20,000 workers are employed at plants at Badin, N. C., and Alcoa, Tenn., where they receive wages from 3 to 18 cents an hour lower than in the corporation's northern factories. New contract negotiations will be carried out at Pittsburgh.

Price Increases Cited

Washington, July 16 (AP)—Secretary Perkins reported today that prices of 18 staple foods in 18 cities rose 1.7 per cent during the last half of June. Eggs went up an average of 2.7 cents per dozen; butter, 1.3 cents per pound; pork chops, 1 cent per pound; canned tomatoes, 2.3 per cent; and lard 4.6 per cent. The only one of the 18 foods to show a substantial price drop, the secretary said, was cabbage, the price falling 7.3 per cent.

Bergan Rules 17 Unionists Might Be Held for Trial

Men Who Would Convict Nuzzo and Others Fail to Post $500 Bond With Court

Supreme Court Justice Francis Bergan ruled at Albany today officers of Newburgh Local 17, International Hod Carriers, Builders and Common Laborers' Union (A.F.L.), may try 17 union members on charges of "disloyalty," the Associated Press reports.

The 17 men, among the union's 6,000 members working on a New York city water supply system in Ulster, Sullivan, Greene and Orange counties, had brought suit against the officers to force an accounting of union funds, an impartial union election and restraint of an alleged "conspiracy to arbitrarily control" the organization.

In his ruling vacating a previous injunction forbidding the officers to try the men on the "disloyalty" charges, Justice Bergan explained the 17 members failed to comply with a stipulation they file a $500 bond with the court.

A provision in the injunction authorizing an inspection of union records had been vacated by mutual agreement, Justice Bergan announced. Affidavits originally filed with the court claimed the officers collected $600,000 from members in initiation fees and dues since 1936, of which approximately $400,000 should now be in the union treasury.

Henry Hirschberg, Newburgh attorney representing the officers, asked postponement of the trial of the 17 men until it is ascertained when Samuel Nuzzo, Newburgh, union treasurer, can attend court. The attorney said Nuzzo is confined to his home with an arm injury.

Railroad's Drawing Will Be Shown to Public Service Commission and Will Be Submitted for Bids

Maps of the project to eliminate the West Shore railroad crossing by depressing Broadway under the tracks were shown at the monthly meeting of the Board of Public Works on Tuesday afternoon. Otherwise little business was transacted at the meeting. The maps were drawn in accordance with the amended order of the state public service commission. These preliminary maps had been prepared by the New York Central railroad and will be filed with the state board. If approved by the state board, the railroad will prepare the finished maps that will be submitted to bidders. It was stated that the public service commission would meet Thursday in Albany and that the city would be represented. Little business was transacted at the meeting Tuesday afternoon. Acting Superintendent Max Oppenheimer reported that the street rebuilding program of the board was progressing satisfactorily. During the month of June the board had reconstructed Pearl

Price Laws Not Ready For Debate

Not Much Coolness Is Displayed Toward New Bid for Year-Round Time Savings Bill to Be Given

Lea Will Present His Bill to Start Process of Hearings

Washington, July 16 (AP)—Despite disclosure by President Roosevelt that specific methods of holding down rents and prices during the war emergency were under consideration, congressional leaders said today it would be many weeks before legislation on the subject could even be brought up for debate.

Less coolness was evidenced in congressional quarters, however, toward another administration plan which would affect directly the lives of millions of Americans—the request which Mr. Roosevelt sent to Congress yesterday for authority to order extension of daylight saving time where-ever necessary.

The President backed up the request with the argument that general use of daylight saving would conserve an estimated 736,282,000 kilowatt hours of energy annually which would help offset developing shortages of power needed for defense production. Chairman Lea (D-Calif.) of the House interstate commerce committee announced he would introduce a bill carrying the desired authority and hearings would start early next week. The reaction of many legislators was summed up by Senator Bone (D-Wash.) who said that if daylight saving could "accomplish industrial objects for national defense, there probably will be no opposition."

Questions Are Brought Up
The related questions of rent and price control were brought up at President Roosevelt's press conference yesterday, and the Chief Executive reported that pegging of rents in defense centers was under study.

Further, he indicated the general price control legislation would have to be flexible to permit variations according to the article and the locality. No general ceiling could be fixed over all prices, he declared. He suggested that the dark grey form of a destroyer is seen whipping into the harbor. The lighters thread their way through a forest of masts of sunken vessels and pull up alongside the warship.

Every man aboard the destroyer, including mess stewards, cooks and stokers, moves at breakneck speed to transfer men and supplies to the lighters on one side while the wounded and out-going material are hoisted aboard from the other side.

Stick of Bombs Falls
The night I arrived aboard a destroyer a stick of bombs fell within a few yards of the munitons piled on the deck. Australians, hung like Christmas trees with equipment, stumbled ashore cursing volubly each time a new shower of bombs forced them to duck or miss their footing. Harbor defenses pumped a stream of shells at the bombers overhead.

Trucks carry the provisions from the shore into the strong-hold. By the time they move the destroyer's job usually is done, the turn-around taking about half an hour. When day dawns the warship should be miles away from Tobruk.

The garrison is made up of soldiers from South Australia, Queensland, Tasmania and England. They have frozen the war of movement in this sector of the hot African desert to one of position not unlike that fought in France in 1914-1918. This band of a few thousand has held on here for three months, the guns of the stronghold seldom stilled.

Probably the most popular man in Tobruk is an officer who organized a unit of mess cooks, orderlies and other non-combatants into a "bush artillery." The unit captured ammunition from Italian guns left here by the Italians last January.

The most unpopular man is "Orrible" Orace. He's the pilot of a two-place German Henschel reconnaissance plane who comes down and machine-guns anything that moves.

One of War's Most 4 Boys Are Held Dangerous Jobs Is By Troopers on Feeding Tobruk Charges of Theft

Warships Nose Into Harbor at Night Against Subs and Stuka Bombers to Service Fort

By GODFREY H. P. ANDERSON (British Journalist)

Inside Besieged Tobruk, Libya, July 14 (Delayed)—Getting food, ammunition and reinforcements into this British pocket in the North African desert constitutes one of the most daring jobs of the war—and the Royal Navy is stubbornly carrying it out despite submarines and screaming Stuka dive bombers.

Destroyers, slippery decks piled with hundreds of cases of ammunition, food and other necessities, race full speed under cover of night and swerve into the harbor in a blather of foam.

Lighters nose out from the gaunt ruins of buildings along the shattered waterfront as soon as the dark grey form of a destroyer is seen whipping into the harbor. The lighters thread their way through a forest of masts of sunken vessels and pull up alongside the warship.

Every man aboard the destroyer, including mess stewards, cooks and stokers, moves at breakneck speed to transfer men and supplies to the lighters on one side while the wounded and out-going material are hoisted aboard from the other side.

Hitler Statement of Conquered Mass, Space in Russia Is Not Exact Truth

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Freeman Special News Service)

Conflicting claims continued to mark the German and Russian war reports, but there appeared to be nothing in the news to controvert the Red statement that, while the fierce battles for Leningrad and Moscow went on unabated, there was no significant change in the position of the troops overnight.

There seemed no doubt that the conflict was raging within the actual confines of the great Stalin line itself at many points. Since the Nazis remained on the offensive in this wilderness of death, the vital question is how much they may have undermined the Bolshevik powers of resistance and laid the groundwork for the disintegration which Berlin for days has been asserting was under way.

That is to say, while the Reds

Matsuoka's Post May Go to Shigemitsu, Ambassador to London, Report Says

Fight Goes On

(By The Associated Press)

German panzer columns, knifing deep into the Stalin line toward Leningrad, were reported today to have "wiped out" Soviet army forces at Bjelaja, 37 miles east of Pskov, but the Russians said their Red Armies had smashed the new salient and hurled the invaders back to the west.

At Russia's back door, meanwhile, Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye and the entire Japanese cabinet resigned suddenly, leading to speculation that Japan might be planning a more pro-German policy—despite her new pact with Moscow—or possibly withdraw from all European commitments.

It was pointed out that Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka, who fostered Japan's adherence to the Rome-Berlin Axis and personally negotiated the Japanese-Russian neutrality accord on April 13, was recently reported on the way out.

Reports reaching Shanghai from Japan not long ago said Matsuoka might be replaced by Mamoru Shigemitsu, ambassador to London—which might mean that Tokyo was even turning against the Axis.

Konoye's government, in its year-old regime, has carried out a vigorous policy of expansion in southeast Asia, at the risk of mounting displeasure from both London and Washington.

Soviet dispatches from the front said that a fierce Russian counter-offensive was continuing on the central front, west of the Dnepr river, and that the Germans had been driven back even farther than the 19 miles claimed yesterday.

Violent fighting raged throughout the night, a Moscow war bulletin said.

Adolf Hitler's field headquarters again reported briefly that operations in the 25-day-old invasion were "proceeding favorably and that "in several places desperate Soviet counter-attacks were repulsed with bloody losses for the enemy."

The Soviet high command, acknowledging that the Germans had scored a temporary advance on the northern front, gave this detailed picture of the battle:

In the Pskov-Porkhov sector (150 to 175 miles southwest of Leningrad) our troops surrounded enemy motorized and mechanized troops and destroyed them section by section, seizing a large number of tanks, guns and arms of all kinds.

"The remainder of the enemy troops have been hurled back to the west."

Porkhov lies 40 miles east of Pskov, the scene of last week's fighting.

Fighting Continues

Premier Stalin's high command said heavy fighting continued all night also in the Polotsk-Vitebsk sector, just north of the strategic Minsk-Moscow motor-highway.

Elsewhere on the 2,000-mile front, the Soviet high command declared, "no large scale fighting took place during the night and no significant changes in the position of troops occurred."

This would indicate that the Germans were making little if any progress in their drive toward Kiev, the Ukraine capital.

Hitler's headquarters asserted last Saturday that Nazi troops were "directly before Kiev," but a German spokesman today acknowledged that it would be "premature" to assume Kiev was in German hands.

The Berlin radio reported that Soviet troops had been captured between Zhitomir and Berdichev, 80 miles west of Kiev, where the main struggle in the Ukraine appeared to be raging.

German mechanized spearheads deep in the Ukraine were described by the Russians as "in a difficult situation"—apparently cut off from infantry forces unable to break through to their support.

Lacking reports of spectacular successes such as marked the Nazi blitzkrieg sweep through Belgium, Holland and France last summer, the German turned from Hitler's two-sentence communique to press dispatches asserting that the Luftwaffe was spreading havoc among Soviet communications behind the lines.

U. S. Begins Its Roundup of 29 On Plot Charges

Action Called One to End Conspiracy to Down Government; Several Statements Given

St. Paul, July 16 (AP)—The United States government began a roundup today of 29 persons charged by a federal grand jury yesterday with plotting a revolution while the accused National Socialist Workers Party members and heads complained about "discrimination" and "persecution."

Indications were that many warrants would be served today since many of the listed defendants live in the twin city area. Bail in each case was set for $5,000 pending trial in October.

Federal prosecutors described the action as designed to smash a plot to overthrow the government. Henry A. Schweinhaut, Washington, D. C., special assistant attorney general, said Socialist Workers Party members in 1938 tested mobilization in a downtown Minneapolis parking lot by summoning "a private army" of 500 within an hour.

The defendants issued several statements. One by James P. Cannon, of New York, national S.W.P. president, said the indictments represented "the cynical payment of a political debt owed by Franklin D. Roosevelt to Daniel J. Tobin, president of International Brotherhood of Teamsters," adding: "The object is to help Tobin in his fight against the rank and file of the Minneapolis teamsters who have revolted against his dictatorial rule and gone over to the C.I.O."

Cannon referred to the recent bolt of a part of General Drivers Union Number 544 from A.F.L. to C.I.O., a move led by the three Dunne brothers, Vincent, Miles and Grant, all of whom were named in the indictments returned in St. Paul yesterday. When the bolt occurred a month ago, Tobin came here to charge the transfer was engineered because A.F.L. was about to penalize 544 heads for radical activities.

'Voice of Popeye' Visits Boys at Camp Awosting

Minneapolis, July 16—The boy campers at Camp Awosting, at Minneapolis have exploded the theory that spinach makes "Popeye" strong enough to do anything he wants to.

A few days ago Harry Foster Welch, original voice of "Popeye" on stage, screen and air, visited Camp Awosting to entertain the boys. After the youngsters revelled in Popeye's act they invited him to swim with them in Lake Awosting, the camp's private lake of glacial origin which is more than a mile in length and fed from hundreds of springs.

Welch declined the swim and played golf instead with Daniel Chase, camp director, explaining that regardless of spinach, "Popeye" can take no chances with his voice. Rather than risk a serious cold that might impair his voice, "Popeye" stays out of the water. Welch agreed instead to return to entertain the Awosting campers again July 26.

Cigarette Causes Route 28 Accident

Occupant of One Machine Is Slightly Injured

The dropping of a cigarette on the upholstery of a car at West Hurley, causing the driver to stop to prevent a fire, was blamed for a crash between two vehicles last night. As a result one passenger was slightly injured.

About 10 o'clock last evening Dorothy Stanton of 156 Pine street, Kingston, operating a car owned by A. P. Cunningham, and accompanied by Pauline Groscher of Ridgewood, N. J., stopped to investigate a dropped cigarette. A Jacob Ruppert Brewing Co. truck operated by George Sutherland of Birch avenue, Poughkeepsie, came along from the rear and struck the parked car causing it to run up a steep embankment along the road. Pauline Groscher was treated at the Kingston Hospital for injuries about the head but discharged.

Deputy Sheriff Charles McCullough investigated the accident but no arrest was made.

An express truck operated by David Helsing of Maryland, N. Y., proceeding north on route 9-W about 11:30 o'clock last evening struck a parked coupe on the flats near the Prophet farm at Ulster Park. In the car, which had been stopped for a moment was Frank Broadhead of 271 West 141st street, New York, and his wife, Helen, who were en route to Catskill for a vacation.

Mrs. Broadhead suffered contusions of the knees and Mr. Broadhead a laceration of the lower lip and scalp injuries as well as an injury to one eye.

The crash was investigated by Sergeant E. J. Hulse and Trooper James Benson. No arrests were made.

Mrs. H. S. Potter Named President Of School Board

Mrs. Helen S. Potter, who was the first woman to be elected to the Ellenville Board of Education two years ago was named president of the board last night at its annual organization meeting. Mrs. Ivie Elting was named clerk.

Mrs. Potter was graduated from Syracuse University, magna cum laude, and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. She had attended Middletown High School and won a scholarship from there to Syracuse University. In 1921 she was married to Allen D. Potter and has made her home in Ellenville since that time.

Mrs. Potter has always maintained an interest in education and she is active as a member of the Ellenville Women's Club. She has three children: A daughter, Elizabeth, is now attending Russell Sage at Troy, and a son, Frank, attends Loomis Institute at Windsor, Conn. The other son is attending junior high school in Ellenville.

Mrs. Potter replaces P. Edwin Clark as president of the board and Dr. Anthony Ruggerio was named vice president. Mrs. Elting as clerk replaces E. Boyce TerBush.

Richard Marmion, a Shokan summer visitor of long standing has been in the village for a few days. Mr. Marmion, a resident of Belleaire, L. I., was accompanied here by his daughter, Miss Edna Marmion.

Joseph Smith spent Sunday with Mrs. Smith at their place adjoining the Baptist Church grounds.

Herman Wendt, of Washington, D. C., was at home Tuesday. Mr. Wendt is one of the employees charged with turning over new planes to the navy proving grounds near Washington.

Haying, which progressed slowly last week on account of the wet weather, has now attained a more satisfactory tempo. Clover and white clover already have passed the quality peak stage. Though mixed grasses generally remain green and flourishing on low-lying meadows.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carman, residents of Rensselaer for many years, are at the Shokan home of Mrs. Carman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bedell.

July 18, 1895, Aaron B. Merrihue, one of the most respected citizens, died at his home in Tontogore at the age of 76 years. Funeral services on July 20, were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Price, pastor of the Tontogore M. E. Church. Mr. Merrihue, one of a family of 12 children, was the father of Jacob V. Merrihue of Kingston.

Home Markle, Jr., is now manager of the local baseball club. William Loos of Inwood is in town for a vacation of two weeks. "Bill", who has many friends here, is dividing his time between reservoir fishing and work on his Ridge road building lot.

Mrs. William Kelly and son, Junior, are spending some time with Mrs. Denis T. Reardon.

Henry Latham of Jamaica spent the week-end at the Carpenter camp. Mrs. Latham and baby accompanied her husband back to the city Sunday.

Extended Service Gains in Support

like these, whether the army should be disintegrated or not.

In the Senate even some opponents of extension legislation said the administration had sufficient votes to assure its passage. One opposition strategist, requesting his name not be used, said an informal canvass indicated that if sponsors did not press a proposal—which has, in fact, been shelved—for authority to send troops outside the western hemisphere there was little doubt about enactment of the extension legislation.

However, many members of the House military committee, talking in advance of the President's press conference statement, apparently remained doubtful about the bill. Rep. Kilday (D., Tex.) said in commenting on the need for it that "they will have to show us," and Rep. Thompson (D., Tex.) declared it would take a special message from the President to get the bill passed.

One indication of dwindling Senate opposition was seen by some legislators in a statement by Senator Taft (R., Ohio) that he was willing to vote for additional service for the draftees, reservists and guardsmen provided proper safeguards were included in the interest of the men.

Taft Disagrees

Taft, who has been critical of many administration foreign policy moves, disagreed with a request set forth in the Patterson letter for removal of the present limitation of 900,000 selectees under arms at any one time, but said it would be necessary to keep a substantial number of trained men active duty to preserve the efficiency of the army.

"We ought not extend the service period beyond the time that actual necessity requires," he said, "and arrangements ought to be made so that 100,000 or some such number of men who have served a year or more could be discharged each month."

Elimination of the 900,000 limit on selectees would permit the war department to order induction of any number of men and raise the size of the army to any figure believed necessary for defense provided congress furnished the money.

This would permit the army to be increased to 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 men or even more as equipment and training facilities become available, but so far there has been no announcement of intention to get beyond the 1,725,000-man force currently in the making.

No Breach of Faith

In apparent reply to one of the arguments which has been advanced against requiring selectees to serve longer than the period now prescribed, the President told reporters it would not be breaking faith with the men to extend their military duty so long as the nation had need for them.

The original Selective Service Act, he said, provided that if it was necessary draftees could be retained either through declaration of a national emergency by congress through an amendment to the act.

The question of which method should now be used, he added, is one for congress to decide.

On the point of breaking faith, opponents were quick to differ with him.

Senator Nye (R., Ind.), expressed the opinion that in enacting the draft legislation congress had permitted acceptance of the understanding that selectees were to be trained for only one year. If the army needed to retain these men, he added, it ought to seek and accept only volunteers.

Do it any other way would be the worst form of bad faith on the part of congress," he declared.

The Senate military affairs committee arranged to start hearings on the legislation tomorrow with Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, as the first witness. Marshall previously informed the committee, in testimony made public yesterday, that the army would "let them go" if selectees had to be discharged at the end of a year's service.

Elks Will Buy Bonds

Philadelphia, July 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt's brother Elks will answer his call to aid in national defense by buying more defense bonds. Retiring Grand Exalted Ruler Joseph G. Buch of Trenton, N. J., said the national order has already purchased $150,000 worth of the bonds and is planning to buy "ten of thousands more."

In a message to the 77th annual convention of the B. P. O. E., the President, member of Poughkeepsie Lodge No. 275, said "I know this grand organization will not fail in this time of national emergency."

H. L. Conklin Bankrupt

New York, July 15 (Special)—A voluntary bankruptcy petition was filed today in Federal Court here by Harvey Leonard Conklin, a restaurant worker at the Royal Clipper, Inc., Middletown, formerly residing at Ellington avenue, New Paltz, and now at 226 Phillips street, Middletown. Liabilities amount to $1,438 and assets to $70. Among the creditors are General Motors Acceptance Corp., $283 owed, Joseph Sullivan, New Paltz, $297, and Irving Sutton, Main street, New Paltz, $156.

Returns to Work

Hopewell, Va., July 16 (AP)—Percy L. Chitty, whose only child, Osborne Chitty, 10, was killed when a hit-run driver struck his bicycle 10 days ago, returned to his trucking job yesterday for the first time since his son's death.

His lumber-laden truck was moving slowly up a steep grade here when a bicycle darted out of a side street. Chitty veered—but was unable to avoid a collision.

11-year-old G. C. Hudgins, Jr., was dead of a fractured skull when Chitty picked him up.

'West Point' Heads Eastward on Trip With Axis Group

New York, July 16 (AP)—The navy's big armed transport, the West Point, rode at anchor in New York harbor today ready for a dash across the Atlantic with nearly 500 banished German and Italian nationals aboard.

Almost 24 hours after her scheduled departure with the expelled Axis consuls, their families and other agents of the warring Fascist and Nazi nations, the country's biggest transport still had not received government orders to proceed seaward.

The final detachment of unwanted Germans and Italians, ordered by the state department to leave this country, was taken shortly after noon by coast guard cutter to the West Point anchored at quarantine.

Youths Arrested On Theft Charge

Four Held for Entering Plank Road Stand

Lawrence Schryver, 17, of 49 St. James street and Charles Miller, Jr., 16, of Lake Katrine, were arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs Vredenburg and Winne and held by Justice of the Peace Raymond Lyke of the town of Ulster on a burglary, third degree, charge, arising out of the breaking into the Modica fruit stand on the Plank road early Saturday morning.

Another 15-year-old boy was held for Children's Court and a fourth youth already in jail on another charge will be arrested later on a warrant, charged with having been one of the quartet which entered the Modica property.

He is Robert May, 17, of Yarmouth street, who was also involved in a burglary at Kerhonkson Monday night and is being held for grand jury action on that charge after being arrested by B. C. I. Troopers Metzger and L. Baker, who with Sergeant Hopkins and Trooper Faber investigated the Kerhonkson burglary.

Receives Decoration

Berlin, July 16 (AP)—Lieut. Col. Werner Moelders, leader of this war's version of Baron Manfred von Richthofen's World War "Flying Circus," received from Adolf Hitler today Germany's highest decoration for bravery, the oak leaves with swords in diamonds on the knights cross of the iron cross. In a special communique by the fuhrer's headquarters on the eastern front, Moelders was credited with shooting down 101 planes since the start of the war, 21 more than were claimed for Von Richthofen, heretofore Germany's ace of aces.

Dewey Asks Questions

New York, July 16 (AP)—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey today paraded hundreds of longshoremen into the criminal courts, building and began questioning them in a closed line-up about conditions on certain East river docks. Dewey did not explain further the purpose of his surprise move, but some observers said the investigation probably concerned a possible racket in which longshoremen were required to return part of their wages to stevedores who employ them to load and unload ships.

Grimmest Part to Come

London, July 16 (AP)—A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, told a luncheon gathering which included several United States marines today that the grimest part of the war is yet to come. "It is on the battle of the Atlantic that our life depends," Alexander said, "and if we defeat the U-boat and the long-range aircraft our strength will steadily become overwhelming."

Regatta Is Canceled

Washington, July 16 (AP)—To help conserve gasoline and oil for defense, the President's Cup Regatta Association announced today the cancellation of power boat races scheduled for September 19-21. In lieu of the power boat events, the association said it would lend support to swimming sailing and rowing competitions.

Barge Captain Is Drowned in Creek

Rosendale, who was called took charge of the body, and said he would withhold a verdict until he had finished an investigation of the drowning.

Patrick E. Hayes of 25 South street, New York city, captain of the stone barge J. L. Craven of New York, who told the police he had seen Tebbens fall into the creek, was arrested by Officer Peter Camp who charged him with public intoxication. He was held for a hearing later in police court and was given a suspended sentence.

According to the story told the police by Hayes he was lying in his bunk and as he looked out of his cabin window he saw Tebbens come down to the dock, in the rear of the Stone gas station, and that as Tebbens made a step from the dock's edge to the stern of his barge, he slipped and fell hitting his head against the stern of the boat.

The police searching the cabin of the barge found a Social Security card that had been issued to Tebbens, which gave his name and his address as 305 Irving avenue, Syracuse. The police were informed that Tebbens was married but did not live with his wife and that they had four or five children.

The two barges, which were loaded with stone for the Island Dock were moored at the Stone Dock. The Hallenbeck was moored alongside the dock while the Craver was berthed on the outside of the Hallenbeck.

The two barges came in with the upriver tow yesterday and were moored at the Stone dock until they could be moved to the Island Dock for unloading.

According to information obtained by the police the two barges are owned by Frank Tucker of Brooklyn.

The first intimation of the drowning received by the police was at 12:58 o'clock this morning when they received a telephone call at headquarters of the late Thomas Cornell and was connected with for many years with the Cornell Steamboat Co. with his residence in this city. Mr. Hoorbeck died last year. Burial will be in the Rosendale Plains cemetery Thursday at about 1 o'clock.

Hitler Statement of Conquered Mass, Space in Russia Is Not Exact Truth

still have a lot of "mass and space" to overcome before they can call it a job well done.

When you talk of Russia in terms of "space" you're speaking of the world's largest country in area, covering one-sixth of the earth. The farther the Germans drive into this vast territory the greater will become their difficulties—so long as they encounter resistance—because of the extension of their communications over which must come supplies and reinforcements.

It's 1,000 miles from Berlin to Moscow by rail, and something more by highway. Of course, not all supplies come from Berlin, but that figure gives you an idea of the distances involved. It doesn't tell you, though, that good highways are few and far between, that the Russian railways use the wide gauge and that therefore trains from the rest of Europe cannot run on them.

That's a problem for the German army—the necessity of transferring freight from one train to another at the Russian border. That is, you transfer it if you can find the train to transfer it to, for there's a great scarcity of rolling stock in both Russia and the rest of Europe—a situation being intensified by the present heavy destruction. And that isn't a fraction of the problem of moving supplies by motor, since this calls for huge quantities of gasoline—one of Germany's great deficiencies.

Anyway, as I see it, one of Hitler's main objects in invading Russia was to secure the vast food and mineral supplies of the Ukraine and the oil of the Caucasus if he can get to it. His vital need is to find supplies in Russia, not to bring them into that country.

Another objective was the destruction of the Communist regime, so as to remove what he regarded as a potential threat on his eastern front. He presumably has been proceeding on the theory (which I found on touring Europe) that the Russian army and people will desert the Moscow government if given the opportunity.

We shall know more about that if and when the Germans reach Moscow, but the "mass" resistance which they have encountered thus far must have caused some doubts to arise in their minds as to the vulnerability of Bolshevik morale.

Authoritative sources in Moscow deny reports abroad that the government is preparing to quit the capital for a city farther east. Should the Bolsheviks make such a withdrawal, however, it will mean that the war is to go on—that space and mass haven't been overcome. It will mean, as I have pointed out before, that the Germans at last have the situation which they have tried so hard to avoid—a major war on two fronts.

Cuban Cabinet Resigns Today

Premier Announces Act to Permit Batista to Reorganize

Havana, Cuba, July 16 (AP)—The Cuban cabinet resigned today to facilitate a reorganization of the government by President Fulgencio Batista.

The resignation was announced by Premier Carlos Saladrigas after a meeting with his ministers.

He said resignations had been received from all cabinet members and would be submitted formally to the president this afternoon.

Except that they were preparatory to a government reorganization, no explanation of the cabinet's decision was issued immediately.

Pertinent Facts On Conscription

Sequence numbers for 74,529 young men who registered in the state of New York on July 1 will be drawn in the Second National Selective Service Lottery to be held in Washington, D. C., Thursday evening, Brigadier General Ames T. Brown, state director of selective service, announced today.

The lottery, which will determine the sequence in which new registrants will be integrated among old ones, will be held in Departmental Auditorium, Washington, D. C., at 7 p. m. (E. S. T.) Thursday, July 17.

The sequence numbers will determine the order in which these new registrants will be integrated among the old registrants who have order numbers larger than the last selectee of their local board who was involuntarily inducted before midnight, June 30, 1941, General Brown said.

"For example, if a local board should happen to have 10 new registrants and 100 old registrants on its list whose order numbers follow that of the last involuntary inductee of midnight, June 30, then one new registrant would be placed after each group of 10 old registrants."

Any induction made after midnight of June 30 will be ignored in the integration of new registrants among old ones, General Brown stated.

A set of serial numbers, each preceded by the letter "S" from "S-1" to include the largest number used by any local board in the country in assigning serial numbers to July 1st registrants, will be drawn by lots. Approximately 800 numbers will be drawn, the director said.

The serial numbers in the order they are drawn in the lottery will constitute a master list to be used by local boards in assigning "Sequence Numbers" to their July 1st registrants, in this manner.

The registrant in each local board area whose serial number first appears on this second master list will be given "Sequence Number 1" in his area; the registrant whose serial number is next closest to the top will receive "Sequence Number 2" and so on until each July 1st registrant has a sequence number.

As was the procedure in connection with the previous national lottery in October, 1940, local boards will cross off on the second master list and ignore those serial numbers that are not held by any registrant in their areas.

When sequence numbers have been assigned to all new registrants, the local boards will assign each of these registrants an order number to be determined by integrating them among the old registrants. This means that the new registrant with Sequence No. 1 in his local board area will receive the lowest order number assigned to his group, and the registrant with the largest sequence number will receive the highest order number for the same group.

Tarchiani Reports Italians in U. S. A. Teach Democracy

Group Would Supplant All Fascist Ideas Among Italians; U. S. Aid Is Desired

New York, July 16 (AP)—Alberto Tarchiani, former editor of Milan's great newspaper Corriere Della Sera, disclosed today that a group of democratic Italians and Italian-Americans is attempting to supplant all Fascist ideas among Italians; U. S. aid is desired.

"We are established in 50 cities," said the middle-aged writer and traveler who quit Italy in 1925 when Fascists took over his newspaper. "Every day we receive more and more appeals for help and advice. We hope that someday soon the American government will lend us active support in our work."

By "we" he meant the Mazzini Society, named after Giuseppe Mazzini, 19th-century Italian patriot who was exiled for his efforts to unify Italy under a republican form of government.

The group was founded by prominent Italian professors and professional people who left Italy after the Fascists came into power. Most of them are now American citizens.

In New York the society maintains offices in a large midtown building off Columbus Circle. Since consulates began closing about a month ago, more and more Italians have come to Tarchiani and his colleagues for help.

"Most of the cases involve Italians who came here illegally," said Tarchiani. "If the men and women have a good character, we help them. If they have committed any offense in Italy other than political, if they have not signed under the Alien Registration Act, or if there is anything that makes us feel they will not be a credit to their old country, Italy, and their new country, America, we tell them we can do nothing for them."

Tarchiani said the group's work is financed by Italian American societies and individuals.

Of the Italian consulates in America, the society said recently in a leaflet, "many were Fascist rather than Italian; i.e., they were propaganda offices, political agencies, spy centers, not instruments of loyal, dutiful aid to compatriots."

LET'S KEEP 'EM ROLLING

I've just been reminded by the home office of some things that are important to both shippers and consignees of freight in our community.

You probably know that the railroads have been called upon to carry the bulk of all National Defense materials as well as greatly increased tonnage in other commodities.

I'm glad to report that the Central meets this National Emergency with the most efficient fleet of locomotives and freight cars it has ever had in service. Since World War days our average freight train speed has increased 50%... this, with better handling in yards, has doubled the average daily mileage of freight cars. And in step with National Defense, we have purchased over 17,000 new freight cars, 65 giant new road locomotives, and 62 oil-electric switching engines.

But all this may not be enough unless we keep 'em rolling. And here's how you can help tremendously... by speeding up all of your loading and unloading.

Just think—a day saved in the average time of loading and unloading each freight car would add 16,000 Central freight cars to the Nation's supply.

To attain such an objective may mean extra work on your part and on ours but, in the interest of National Defense, let's strive for it—in every car we load or unload.

P. S.—I was just wondering if all the students who are eligible to enter the contest to name the cars for our new streamlined EMPIRE STATE EXPRESS have obtained their entry blanks. If not, I have them available here at the station for you. The contest closes at midnight, July 31, 1941.

Get Her Out, Says Battered Wetmore About His 'Baby'

'I'm Afraid of Her,' Says Freddy, 68, Who in March Couldn't Do Enough for Her

Love's "primrose path" seemed badly trampled in the case of Freddy G. Wetmore, 68-year-old sportsman and tavern keeper of Poughkeepsie, when he appeared battered and bruised from the effects of high-heeled slippers in police court in that city on Tuesday.

Wetmore appeared as complainant in a disorderly conduct charge against his 24-year-old show girl bride of four months.

Mrs. Wetmore pleaded not guilty of hitting Freddy with her slippers, and the hearing was adjourned by Judge Corbally after informing her of her rights. Mrs. Wetmore was returned to the county jail after telling the judge that she did not wish legal counsel or didn't care about bail.

The Wetmore wedding at the Reformed Church in Poughkeepsie on March 17, was probably the most publicized wedding in the Bridge City. At that time Freddy told newspaper men, "I can't do too much for my baby."

On Tuesday he was saying "I want her to pack and get out, I'm afraid of her."

Wetmore said that Tuesday night he went to the fights in Beacon and returned home later and went to bed. His wife, he said, came in later and started to kick him around. Freddy has retained Bernard J. McCoy as his attorney.

The sports promoter is widely known among the older sport fans of Kingston, who recall the baseball clubs he managed.

ACADEMIC BETTING

Ben Bernie, band leader and radio performer, has a good system for playing the horses. He calls himself "just an academic bettor" and proceeds to explain what that is.

"I look at the form sheets, mentally pick my winners and check up on 'em next day. You don't lose anything but confidence in yourself that way."

It would be too bad to lose too much self-confidence, of course. On the other hand, confidence would probably be lost sooner if large money losses were involved.

Mr. Bernie's scheme looks fine for people who are only mildly interested in horse racing and even less in betting. It probably wouldn't be very popular with anyone else. And track operators, jockeys, horse owners, and others immediately interested in the sport of kings and in separating the gullible from their money, will surely deplore the idea.

CONDITIONS DOWN BELOW

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who has been on a listening tour among our southern neighbors, reports danger signs. He says the vanguard of Hitler's army is right now "preparing for a Nazi putsch below the Rio Grande." He reports a "very black cloud" hanging over Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Uruguay and Peru especially.

It isn't that those southern countries want to oppose democracy. They are bedeviled by Nazi propaganda and pressure. Hitler's emissaries are swarming there, not defending their own cause but attacking the United States from every angle. They emphasize and exaggerate our disunity. They manage to give a very false picture of the attitude of our people, says Fairbanks, "using for their ammunition the yapings of our political pomeranians."

LIVELY STOCK MARKET

The stock market, which has been strangely slow to react to developments that formerly would have increased trading, has begun to have "million-share" days. Industrial production has been high. Wholesale prices have risen. The average yield on common stocks in 1940 was the highest in eight years. First-quarter earnings of 357 companies whose shares are listed were 19 per cent above a year ago.

Despite all those factors trading remained slow. The volume last month was lower than for any June in 29 years. The sad lessons of the last speculative boom-and-bust were in people's minds. So, too, was the knowledge that war losses in the long run would probably be greater than war profits.

That the market has begun to shake off its long lethargy may be chiefly attributed to the continued steady advance of industry and prices plus the outbreak of war between Germany and Russia. Many Americans, though trying to avoid wishful thinking, nevertheless believe that the beginning of the end for Hitlerism lies in the Nazi advance into Russia.

A million-share day doesn't mean the end of all economic worries or the sure approach of peace and prosperity. It was probably inevitable in the presence of other developments. But it may be a good thing if it doesn't go on at too swift a pace to too high a point.

JAPAN MOVES

It may be well to keep American eyes on Japan a little more than usual from now on. Something is brewing there.

Lately Japanese merchantmen have been dumping foreign cargoes in various ports without regard to their destination and sailing off empty, presumably for home. This has been done particularly with cargoes bound for the United States. The "dumping" seems to have been mostly in the Far East.

Military quarters at Manila were inclined to think that the vessels were being ordered home by their government for possible moves against the Russian seaport Vladivostok, which the Japanese have always coveted. Or else that Japan was planning to strike northward through Manchoukou to take Siberia. That would round out her empire in that quarter if she were successful. There might be a thrust southward against Singapore or the Dutch Indies, which the Japanese have long coveted, or even at the Philippines, but anything so daring as that is not expected at present.

Whatever is being cooked up, the little yellow brothers will bear watching. And never doubt that Uncle Sam's navy is keeping an eye on them.

NEWFOUNDLAND FINDS HERSELF

Well, this world-wide disturbance we call war does good in some quarters, anyway. There is Newfoundland, an independent dominion of the British Empire, which after floundering in bankruptcy for years had to be taken over by Mother Britain a couple of years ago. It is now prospering, and has a nice surplus in the treasury, and is beginning to pay its debts, and may no longer be known as the impecunious little brother of Canada.

How come? Newfoundland profits from the war traffic. Most of the shipments of troops and supplies eastward go from that outlying rampart in the Atlantic, and airplanes take off from there. It might be called a great gun pointing toward Europe.

"The greatest obstacle to marital bliss is men's manners," says a household authority. Alas, yes! But what would women do if their men were perfect to begin with and didn't have to be brought up?

Somehow it doesn't seem quite right for these scientific weather experts to call a cool breeze just a "mass of cool air."

We may yet bridge the Atlantic with an endless span of airships.

SUN STROKE AND HEAT EXHAUSTION

Perhaps you have difficulty in telling the difference between heat stroke and sun stroke. Sun stroke is due directly to the rays of the sun, whereas heat stroke occurs indoors in a hot, poorly ventilated room.

The symptoms of sun stroke are headache, great depression, restlessness, thirst, hot skin, flushed face, feeling of nausea, and finally unconsciousness. The treatment of sunstroke is to lay the patient in a shady place, remove shirt or blouse, and apply cold cloths to back of neck, face, and chest. The head should be kept high and patient fanned with the coat or blouse if towel is not handy. When patient regains consciousness he is given some cool water containing a pinch of salt. Getting him out of the sun and applying "cold" water is, thus, the first thought in treatment of sun stroke.

In heat stroke, it is not the heat of the sun, but the fact that the individual has been rebreathing moist, used, "unventilated" air, which causes faintness, headache, and dizziness. The face is pale instead of flushed as in sunstroke and the skin cold and damp instead of hot and dry. Temperature is below instead of above normal. As the cause and symptoms of heat stroke are different to sun stroke, the patient is placed in a cool spot outdoors, and cold appliances made to the head only. As all the vital forces are low, heat is necessary, so hot water bags, hot bricks (covered), or other form of heat is applied to the body particularly the abdomen and the feet. If the patient is conscious, or when he recovers consciousness, he is given as much water as he can drink, containing a quarter teaspoon of salt to each glass of water. If he is unconscious, this salt solution is used as an emetic. In hospitals, the salt solution is injected under the skin.

In most factories, heat exhaustion is prevented by having tablets containing a quarter teaspoon of table salt placed beside the drinking fountain, the employee taking a tablet with each glass of water. It is the loss of water from the tissues that causes the symptoms of heat exhaustion. The cells of the body are like tiny fish and must be bathed in water to remain normal.

Smelling salts (aromatic spirits of ammonia) help restore these patients, or 15 drops in water to drink every fifteen minutes, helps restore consciousness and strengthens heart action.

FORGING THE NEW BLADE

Drouth Shortens Hay and Pastures

Albany, July 16.—Crop prospects for 1941 rated as "poor" to "fair" prevail over most of New York, with limited areas described as "good to excellent," according to the Federal-State crop report for July issued from the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. Poorest conditions prevail in the area bounded on the south by an irregular line drawn from Oswego on Lake Ontario through Albany and thence eastward, then northward to Canada, and west and south along the St. Lawrence river and Lake Ontario. It is over much of this important milk producing area that the acutely bad condition of pastures and shortage in the hay crop is resulting in the prospect of a serious feed shortage both currently and for the next ten or eleven months. It is only in rather small areas in south-western and southern counties and on Long Island that good to excellent conditions prevail, the rest of the state being described as fair.

The abnormally dry weather over much of the state to which much of the poor growth has been attributed was favorable for early season operations and, aside from the most severely afflicted areas has not as yet seriously damaged the major crops, except hay which is already being harvested.

Pastures with condition of 57 per cent compared to 96 per cent on July 1, 1940, 71 per cent on this date in 1939 and the ten-year July 1 average of 78 range from 36 per cent of normal in the district containing St. Lawrence, Jefferson and Lewis counties, and 49 per cent in the northeastern counties, to 77 per cent on Long Island.

The time hay crop with harvest much farther advanced than usual at this date, is estimated at 4,028,000 tons in New York compared with 5,554,000 tons last year and 4,836,000 tons the 10-year average. Most serious shortages are in northern and eastern counties. Of this hay, about 333,000 tons are alfalfa. The crop is generally lighter than last year throughout the North Atlantic States, southward to Virginia. Adequate to abundant supplies are available in most other regions.

State winter wheat production is indicated at 6,647,000 bushels, the reduction from 7,904,000 bushels in 1940 being due to lower yields and reduced acreage. National production of all wheat is indicated at 923,613,000 bushels, compared with 816,698,000 bushels last year.

Corn has progressed favorably, the early planting and hot weather promising average yields on an acreage slightly below last year.

Oats with 24,768,000 bushels in prospect in New York are reduced 17 per cent from last year's crop though the acreage was increased somewhat. The 2,664,000 bushels of barley is 30 per cent below 1940 production. The national crops of these feed grains equal or exceed last season.

The fruit crop situation is mixed. Apples are starting off somewhat better than last year and above average in New York, the July 1 condition of 58 per cent of normal being comparable to 53 per cent a year ago and 55 per cent, the 10-year average. The condition of apples is above last year in nearly all commercial areas of the United States, averaging 65 per cent this year, 62 per cent last year and 58 per cent, the 10-year average.

Other important state crop forecasts are: Corn 23,150,000 bushels (including grain equivalent of silage and fodder corn) compared to 21,452,000 bushels last year. Dry beans 1,240,000 sacks (100 lbs.) compared to 903,000 last year and 1,101,000 the 10-year average. The 1941 bean acreage is 155,000 this year compared with

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

Washington—Congressmen and a good many other government officials have their noses to the defense grindstone, but, like little boys in school when they hear the first notes of the circus callopie, they are casting eyes out the window.

In the case of Congress, et al., the glance is toward Texas and what they are wondering is will Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, newly elected senator (to fill the seat of the late Sen. Morris Sheppard) try to play the same topsy-turvy with national politics that he has as a two-time governor of his state.

About three years ago, a comparatively unknown floor man who never had held public office jumped into the Texas political arena with both feet; a six-piece "hill-billy" orchestra; a wife, daughter and two sons who campaigned with him; a sound truck and frequent radio programs.

He announced his platform was the Ten Commandments and his motto, the Golden Rule. His political power was a $30-a-month pension for folks over 65, talk of economy and a lot more talk about "the professional politicians," but with that, he blasted his way into the governor's mansion at Austin.

Admitted His Failure

His inaugural was held in the University of Texas football stadium and the crowd was reported at 50,000. Two years later he ran again, using almost the same tactics, but adding to it the frank admission that he had been a failure and asking the people to keep him in office so he could whip the legislature and the "professional politicians" into line. Once more it was O'Daniel all the way.

Last month, by a margin so narrow (less than 1,100 votes) that it won't be official until another canvass is taken, chubby, grinning showman W. Lee O'Daniel won a U. S. senatorial toga.

129,000 harvested in 1940. Potatoes now indicate about average yields in New York and on a reduced acreage 25,250,000 bushels are indicated compared to 26,858,000 last season and 29,286,000 bushels the 10-year average. Potatoes are especially susceptible to changing weather conditions after this date. The thirty late states have prospects of a crop 8 per cent below last year, while seven intermediate states now marketing have 19 per cent less than in 1940.

New York peaches are about the same as last year while the United States crop exceeds 1940 by 23 per cent. Grapes promise a very light New York crop, 56,800 tons compared with 75,800 tons last season. Cherries and pears are below last season.

Today in Washington

Problems of National Policy Are Coming to Be Considered in Light of Military Necessity

(By DAVID LAWRENCE)

Washington, July 16.—Gradually the issue is narrowing here so that decisions hitherto regarded as matters of national policy now must be viewed in the light of military necessity.

General Marshall, chief of staff of the United States Army—the man who is expected to furnish military advice to the President—says that the draftees in the army must be retained in service beyond the one year for which they were drafted or else the army must be two-thirds demobilized.

Members of Congress for several days have talked not in formal debate but among themselves about the draft question as if it were a matter of politics or broad national policy divorced from specific situations. Today the President has made it crystal clear that the risk of demobilizing the army is too great at the moment and that he feels the draftees should be required to stay on for the duration of the emergency.

Supported by General Marshall's remarks that to demobilize now would be a national tragedy, the President is pressing the question for decision. He had been told that he faced considerable opposition in Congress. If so, the time for a showdown on national defense is at hand and Mr. Roosevelt isn't wavering a bit about such a showdown.

The drafting of troops is never a pleasant task and the members of Congress who voted for the draft on the theory that it would be a one year military training idea fear that they may face reprisals at the polls in November 1942. But, on the other hand, the safety of the nation will either have been assured by that date as a consequence of world events or else the United States will be so involved in the international situation that the legislation to retain draftees will not of itself be an important factor in the voting. So members of Congress, while reluctant to go along with the end that they fear, are not ready to back out.

When O'Daniel was inaugurated the second time, he tossed a gargantuan barbecue and searing on the coals, among other chunks of meat, was 2,000 pounds of buffalo that the governor had bagged himself on a southwest Texas ranch.

Claiming that he was treated unfairly by the press, the governor jumped toward the publishing game himself with "The W. Lee O'Daniel News," a 25-cent weekly, all profits from which were to go to the Red Cross.

March on Washington?

Every Sunday morning, the governor did a radio broadcast that reached every corner of the largest state. His "hill billy" orchestra played hymns and the governor spoke.

Addicted to versification, O'Daniel has delivered portions of official speeches in rhyme. A sizable part of his campaign for the Senate seat was reiterated promises to "twist the tails" of "pussyfooting professional politicians" in Washington.

There's talk now that he might make a triumphant barnstorming trip to Washington, his sound truck and hill-billy band announcing his tour across the intervening states.

It won't be the first time that a political bombshell has come to Washington from a state office. Sometimes they develop into duds, smothered completely in the blanket of national and international affairs. Sometimes, they settle down to the quiet congressional life and spend their days hewing to the party line and mending political fences to keep all their votes in one pasture. Once in a while, however, they continue to explode with the same display of pyrotechnics they showed at home.

Ulster to Show Apples

At New York State Fair

Ithaca, N. Y., July 16.—Top quality New York state fruits, vegetables, maple, poultry, and dairy products will take the limelight in farm bureau exhibits at the New York State Fair in Syracuse, August 24 to September 1.

Twelve counties are cooperating with the displays which aim not only to show the products but also to emphasize the packages used for consumers. Thus, farmers may see how to improve their marketing methods through modern packaging as desired by those who buy the products, and consumers may see the care taken to deliver quality product from farm to home.

Seneca county will display peaches, Wayne will handle cherries, Ulster will devote its space to apples, and Madison will exhibit strawberries.

Steuben county has been called upon for potatoes; Schuyler county for grapes; Cayuga for muckland vegetables; Onondaga for upland vegetables; and Lewis for dairy products.

Rockland county will show poultry and poultry products; St. Lawrence has maple products; and for turkeys, Jefferson county will bring its finest birds.

Plans for the state fair displays by the county farm bureaus have been underway since last spring.

Clergymen outnumber physicians 22 to 1 in American Samoa, according to the Census Bureau. There are 89 clergymen and 4 physicians. In addition to the 89 clergymen, 12 persons gave their occupations as "religious workers."

Norwalk, Conn. (AP)—Arlene Francis owns a farm upstate on which she raises prize cows. Recently she decided to give each cow a name. After naming the first 20, she began to experience a little difficulty . . . and had to call on her friends. Nothing strange about that, except that she's the feminine star of a program called, "What's My Name?"

In the vast area of Alaska, which exceeds the combined area of the 19 states lying east of the Mississippi river and north of North Carolina and Tennessee, there are only four places—Juneau, Anchorage, Ketchikan, and Fairbanks—which, according to Census usage, are classifiable as "urban." The largest of these places, Juneau, the capital, had 5,729 inhabitants in 1939.

One night in the 30's a Des Moines newspaper reporter caught a couple of men in a cornfield taking sights on the stars with an instrument strange to him. The instrument turned out to be a sextant, and the men to be Ray Kauffman and Gerry Mefferd, who were planning a cruise around the world. For the cruise it was essential that they learn navigation, and no sea is so proving, a cornfield will do as a proving ground.

The reporter made a good story out of the scene, and according to Mefferd, the story was one of the reasons why he and his partner actually made the cruise. They had to, to save face.

The Kauffman half of the partnership already has done his book on the 38,000-mile trip from Key West to Mombasa via Singapore. This was called "Hurricane Wake," and it is a gem among cruise books. Gerry Mefferd's book is not a travel story, but something called "The Cruising Manual," and it is unusual for one reason. The author does not assume that his reader knows too much.

The most discouraging thing about most books on sailing is that they seem to have been written to prove that the writer knows more than the rest of the writers on such subjects. The landsman gets so tangled in the nautical knowledge of the author that he hardly knows a ventilator from a coiled halyard; this is quite likely one of the reasons why sailing instructors around yacht clubs do so well.

Mr. Mefferd's book is slanted toward deep-sea cruising, which would permit him, if he wanted, to ignore some of the fundamental things "everybody" is supposed to know. This he does not do. He begins with things which may seem obvious to experienced sailors, and tells everything. Although reading "The Cruising Manual" will not provide the necessary experience for an ocean cruise, it will provide the background knowledge. And it will do something more, which is to fire the reader with the desire to get a boat, a crew and the money, and start for some very, very distant place.

Woodstock's Fair To Be Elaborate Event This Year

Music, Parades, Costumes and Special Surprise Feature Promised for July 31

Arrangements completed to date for the 14th annual Woodstock Fair indicate a program more elaborate than any of the past, according to Miss Alice Wardwell, chairman of the group in charge of plans. The fair will be held July 31 from 2 to 6 p. m.

This year a special program of music is planned and there will be parades, auctions, refreshments, hot dogs, fortune tellers and the gay and colorful costumes for which Woodstock is famous.

Announcement of a special surprise feature is to be made shortly and this will be an event in which several of the colony's famous artists will take part. An innovation by the arrangement committee will be a central receiving place for all contributions—not including books, which are to be delivered to the library. An empty building in the center of the village has been engaged, and will be kept for the convenience of the donors.

Those interested in making donations are asked to keep the date of the library fair in mind and begin their search and preparations for donations.

It has been the effort of every committee to make the fair bigger and better each year and the support this effort gets from the community is a tribute to the importance of the library.

Not only does this library serve its community with its extension service to the school districts of the town, its cooperation with furnishing reading for older students, it also serves the resident center of the N.Y.A. located there.

It promptly fills requests for groups of books from the state and city libraries, and so has a service actually national in importance, as its collection of books by authors resident in Woodstock will testify.

In addition to serving the needs of writers, a special collection of art books and color prints has helped many mural painters in government projects, and a special collection of music serves the needs of a nationally known group of musicians.

These unique services have expanded the uses of the library far beyond those of the usual country town library, and has expanded the annual budget proportionately. The circulation is now well beyond 20,000 a year, and the contribution from the town taxes has kept far below that of any library in a town of equal size in the county. The receipts from the fair are actually depended on to make up two-thirds of the annual budget!

For these reasons, behind the festival spirit that makes the fair a wonderful event in the Woodstock season, there is a loyalty and a purpose in the hundreds of townspeople who contribute their time and energy.

One of the new features this year will be a "Hansel and Gretel" table for the children, sponsored by Miss Gabrielle Moncure, with that candy house of the fairy tale. Mrs. Dorothy Bernhardt is taking charge of the women's clothes, and will have a gay and varied selection of bargains. Mrs. Lucy Brown is specializing in china and glass, and will have some interesting bits for collectors.

Another new feature will be old and fancy costumes collected and sold by Miss Elsa Kimball, and Miss Josephine Barnard and Mrs. Starr will afford a hand in pick up lovely pieces of old world naperie at their linen table. Mrs. Walter Weyl has found an unusually amusing selection of toys for her colorful booth and Mrs. Rosett will present great bargains among the unique things on her "quality table."

UNION CENTER

Union Center, July 16—The Ladies' Aid Society expressed its appreciation to all who helped to make the picnic of July 4 a success. The net proceeds were $57.85.

Henry Sassman of Brooklyn spent the week-end with his wife and children, Louise and Carol, at Mrs. Schenck's cottage. Other guests at the cottage Sunday were: George Zippel of Yonkers, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wadsworth and Mrs. Elizabeth Grass of Ridgewood, N. J.

The Ladies' Aid Society will hold a food sale at the Smith Avenue Bull Market Friday, July 18.

James Mahoney of Belleville, N. J., is visiting Mrs. Jennie Terpenning for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deane, Sr., of Port Ewen, called on Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fowler Monday afternoon.

E. Saqui of New York spent the week-end at his summer home. Mabel Ellsworth of Port Ewen visited relatives in this place for several days recently.

J. Mahoney of Belleville, N. J., Mrs. C. Palen of Esopus and Mrs. Jennie Terpenning are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. B. Terbush at Bridgeport, Conn.

The Ladies' Aid Society is making plans for a card party to be held August 1 on A. V. Schoonmaker's lawn.

The Madding Crowd

Clear Lake, Ia. (AP)—Artist Grant Wood is not bothered with anyone looking over his shoulder while working on the north shore of Clear Lake, an Iowa vacation spot. Determined to make good use of a year's leave of absence from the University of Iowa art faculty, the noted artist obtained an abandoned railway station poised on concrete blocks. When he goes to work in this odd retreat he enters by the freight door, using a stepladder. Then he draws the ladder in after him, closes and locks the door, and goes into a further room.

Stamps IN THE NEWS

By the AP Feature Service

A tab between new Bohemia-Moravia semi-postals shows the date "20 IV 1941" (Hitler's birthday). The tab also indicates the purpose of the stamp both in German and Czech languages: "Für das deutsche rote kreuz" and "pro německý červený kříž" (for the German Red Cross). The Nazi eagle and swastika also decorate this tab.

The stamps are a 60-h plus 40-h blue and a 1.20-k plus 80-h plum, both showing a nurse beside the bed of a patient.

The third experimental highway postoffice route to be established by the United States will be in operation August 4, according to announcement from Postmaster General Frank C. Walker. This will be the "San Francisco and Pacific Grove Highway Post Office." Arrangements are being made to handle philatelic mail on the first trip.

Netherlands charity stamps have arrived. The set contains five stamps as usual. Values are 1½ plus 1¼-c, 2¼-c plus 2½-c, 4-c plus 3c, 5-c plus 3-c, and 7½-c plus 3½-c. Colors are sepia, gray-green, vermilion, green and purple.

Collectors are finding that war is delaying covers carried on maiden voyages of new U. S. freighters. The Seamen's Church Institute has announced that covers, though delayed on the voyage of the American Leader, will be mailed at the first United States stop. The vessel left San Francisco June 16.

The American Builder, another freighter, will sail late this month with cachets on covers unless the boat is called in for defense work. Proceeds from the philatelic work will go to funds for shipwrecked sailors. Other ships in August and September will carry covers with cachets for the fund-raising.

Ceylon apparently has a shortage of 3-cent stamps. Twice recently surcharges of three cents on Coronation stamps have arrived.

The first was a black 3-c on the 20-c and the second is a black 3-c on the blue 6-c which shows the Colombo harbor scene plus inset of King George at the upper left.

Sweden has issued two stamps to commemorate the 50th anniversary of Skansen, famous historical village-park in Stockholm, started by Dr. Arthur Hazelius in 1891. Values are 10-ore and 60-ore.

Hongkong has an 8-cent red-brown stamp addition to the set now in use. . . . Scenes of Switzerland are used in designs of the new set of eight stamps. Values are 30-centimes, 50-c, 60-c, 70-c, 1-franc, 2-fr, 5-fr and 40-c. . . . Palestine has added a 15-millimes blue to the current series.

Quack Remedy
Kansas City—"Do you have a duck I can borrow for a while?" That was Lee Murren's almost invariable greeting to friends. He's looking for a new gag line.

Acquaintances sent a duck-carrying caddy with Murren on his most recent round of golf.

Lookie Here Girls!
Worthington, Minn.—The girls took a back seat to the boys in a 4-H Club baking contest. The cake Wayne Clark whipped up won first place and brought him a free trip to the state fair, while Leland Madison got a prize ribbon for his loaf of bread. They were the only boys among 50 competitors.

Paging Mr. Benny
Des Moines, Ia.—Somewhere in an Iowa shed a 1909 Maxwell automobile apparently has been standing motionless for 22 years. The Iowa motor vehicle department received an inquiry regarding the license fee for such a vehicle "which has not been registered since 1919." The owners said they wanted to bring it out of retirement "for street driving."

Fish Eat Fish
Indianapolis—Two Indianapolis fishermen, George Slick and his son-in-law, Joseph Stetzel, came back from a vacation with a 14-pound 11-ounce pike and this story:

The big fish attempted to swallow an 18-inch window sashweight used to anchor their boat and impaled itself. Inside the pike's stomach they found a 10-inch bass.

Tracked
Los Angeles—D. W. Cowan missed two cowboy boots, both for the right foot, from a display table in his men's furnishing store. He wired the mates to the table. Shortly, a visitor attempted to pick up the anchored footgear. Police found the right foot boots in the visitor's home, boked him on suspicion of theft.

The Petulant Mrs. Pentwhistle

Ordinarily a sweet-tempered little lady, Mrs. Pentwhistle can get pretty petulant at times . . . times like this, for instance, when she begins to feel that she has a rival for her husband's attention.

We can't say we blame her much. Table-talk with a photograph can't be very stimulating.

But cheer up, Mrs. Pentwhistle, Mr. P's passion for the paper is perfectly normal . . . just as normal as yours and that of millions of other Pentwhistles throughout the country. It comes over men and women, young and old, every day in the week . . . simply because the news is indispensable in people's lives.

Day in and day out the newspaper grips the attention of the largest audience in the world.

(While you're waiting your turn at that paper, Mrs. Pentwhistle, you might ponder the fact that every weekday the 37,000,000 families in the United States and Canada buy, and read, 43,300,000 newspapers . . . and every Sunday they buy, and read, 33,000,000 newspapers.)

That's what makes the newspaper such a vital and profitable medium for advertisers. And today, when the news is more important to more people than ever before, the newspaper is naturally a more vital, more profitable advertising medium than ever before.

New Regulations For Employment Insurance Law

Albany, N. Y., July 15—The value of gratuities under the New York State Unemployment Insurance Law may be determined and established by schedules promulgated by the industrial commissioner after public hearings, according to a new regulation concerning the law announced today by Industrial Commissioner Frieda S. Miller. Notice of the place and purpose of the hearing must be given at least 20 days prior to its occurrence.

Gratuities are considered as wages within meaning of the unemployment insurance law, and their value, in most instances, has been established by the average amount of "tips" received in the establishment where the employee in question worked. Heretofore, no definite schedules have been set by the Commissioner.

Under this new regulation, these definite schedules must be filed "in the offices of the Industrial Commissioner and the Secretary of State and published within thirty days of the date of the filing in the office of the Secretary of State." When the schedules are published, the date of filing in the office of the Secretary of State will be indicated and they will become effective thirty days after that date unless otherwise noted.

Gratuities, the value of which is not established by schedule, shall be reported at the actual amount if ascertainable or, if this is impossible, shall be evaluated by the employer upon a reasonable basis and reported by him to the Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance. Upon request, employers must submit a statement of the basis used in arriving at a reasonable evaluation.

According to another new regulation, every employer subject to the law, except employers of employees in personal or domestic service, shall post and maintain certificates issued by the Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance each year, indicating that he has filed reports for each calendar quarter of the preceding year and has made all payments due based on such reports. Employers of domestics must show

HEARTBREAK HONEYMOON

By WATKINS E. WRIGHT

YESTERDAY: It is enough, Henry Pell thinks, that his friendship for Marie Mason has almost estranged his wife, Luella. But now Marie, who has been trying her best to make Henry a place in radio, has just confessed that she has not got over the infatuation she felt for him years before in their home town. This will break things up, Henry knows, unless he can do something about it.

Chapter 18
Confession

"I LOVE singing—my career," Marie gazed. "But I haven't got over loving you. I don't suppose I ever shall."

"Gosh!" said Henry. He was at a loss for words. Marie was modern, but he, personally, had never before felt so completely unmodern. Here was indeed a situation for a man-of-the-world—and he couldn't handle it. It was a situation that was completely and utterly beyond him. "Listen, Marie," he began again.

"Why didn't you come up here before we were married?" she rushed on. "Why did you have to be in such a hurry to marry? We could have tested ourselves, seen if we loved each other—maybe gone on together."

"But you said you didn't want marriage," Henry reminded. "I took you at your word—and—"

"Never take a woman at her word!" said Marie. "That is, I mean—Oh, I don't know what I mean. All I know is that you're married to Luella, that she's holding you back, retarding you, and—that you're letting her. I'm miserable—heart-sick—"

"Get hold of yourself," Henry said, wishing he could do the same. He looked into Marie's tear-filled eyes, and struggled to keep from taking her in his arms.

Marie was right, he thought miserably. Maybe it would have been fairer to all of them if he hadn't rushed Luella into marriage. But what could he do about it now? Nothing, apparently.

Marie began speaking again. "We've got so much in common, you and I," she said. "We could be so happy working together. Working on songs, planning programs. And if Mr. Everett and Malcolm do decide to take you into the organization, just think of the things we could do."

"I am thinking," said Henry. "Oh, Henry," Marie wailed, "what are we going to do?"

"I reckon," said Henry, "that all we can do is try to make the best of the situation." He sank back into the taxi seat. "I don't see what else there is. Maybe I was unfair to you and Luella, but it's too late now to—"

"It isn't too late," said Marie. "Modern people like ourselves, Henry—don't accept defeat. They learn by their mistakes, and go on from there."

Go on to where?

"I—I mean, you don't have to go on being married to Luella, just because you went through a ceremony with her," said Marie. "If it was intended that you and I belong to each other—help and encourage each other—it's up to us to do something about it."

"You mean—divorce?"

"Of course, and don't look so shocked," Marie said, her hand on one of Henry's intertwined fingers with his. "People are getting divorced every day."

He turned to Marie. "I think we'd better wait until we're a little less emotional," he said. "before we discuss the matter any further. We don't want to do anything that will make others unhappy, nor act too quickly ourselves."

He watched Marie's face. "Don't forget that Tommy McIntyre is in love with you. He'd be hurt if—if you did anything—rash."

"I suppose so," said Marie wearily. "But I'll have to harden myself against that. Luella will be hurt, too—so—"

"Poor little Luella," said Henry. He covered his eyes with his free hand. "God! He's steady himself. 'Maybe in the morning we'll seem a little less mixed up—and dramatic.'"

"I shall still be loving you though," said Marie. "In the morning—the morning after that—and on and on."

Henry tightened his hold upon her hand. Then he lifted it and laid it against his lips.

"Well, here we are!" he said presently, glancing out of the window. "Here's where the Southern Singer of Songs parks her lovely self."

Marie laughed harshly. "I know you're trying to be funny and make things easier for me, Henry," she said. "But I'm in no mood for humor. Don't get out, good night—and—thanks."

"Good night to you, Marie," Henry called, as the doorman opened the taxi door. "Good luck!"

"I'll need it," Marie retorted. And went on into the hotel.

Luella Furious

HENRY gave the driver his own address, and a short time later he was feeling for his key in the small vestibule of the house in which he lived. Hearing a footfall behind him, he turned quickly, to see Luella framed in the outer doorway, her latchkey in her hand.

"Hello, Henry!" she said. "Did I startle you?"

"You certainly did," said Henry. "What on earth are you doing out at this hour?"

"Been dancing with Tommy,"

the certificate to each of their employees.

Another innovation in the regulations require that every employer (including employers not subject to the New York State Unemployment Insurance Law), after having been notified by the Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance that an employee has filed a claim for benefits listing him as his last employer, shall submit to the State Employment Office where the reasons for the loss of employment on a form furnished for this purpose by the Division whenever such employee has left his employ-

"Oh!" Henry frowned there in the semi-darkness. And something evil was down deep inside of him forced him to say: "Aren't you and McIntyre seeing an awful lot of each other?"

"Perhaps," said Luella. "But so are you and Marie."

"That's beside the point, Marie and I are working together—on the radio program."

Luella flared. "And I hope to high heaven you'll get that damned program on the air eventually!" she said.

Henry gasped. In all the years he had known Luella, this was the first time he had ever heard her swear. What in blazes had come over her?

"Listen, Luella," he began, "We've simply got to—"

"I'm tired and sleepy," Luella cut in. "I'm going straight to bed."

She got the door open, and walked into the hall, Henry behind her. At the foot of the stairs she paused, looked Henry directly in the face and said: "Henry Randolph Pell, you make me sick."

"Luella, you can't talk to me like that!" Henry said, angry. He reached for Luella's arm, but she eluded him, and ran up the stairs. He was at her heels. "You sick like someone who's been drinking!"

"Well, maybe I have," said Luella. "If you men can drown your sorrows in drink—why can't women? We've got equal rights, haven't we?"

"You're talking like a little fool!" said Henry.

"And you've been acting like one," said Luella.

And so on, and so on—into the bedroom and out of it.

"My wife getting tight," said Henry. "Disgusting."

As a matter of fact, said Luella, "I had one small glass of wine. I hate drinking—hate women who do it—I hate—"

She stopped short, and got into bed. "Hurry up, and turn off the light," she said. "I want some sleep. And you've got a job, in case you've forgotten."

"The devil!" said Henry. Then he too got into bed. He lay thinking, and what he was thinking actually frightened him.

For the thought kept coming to him that maybe Tommy might turn out to be the means of getting his freedom from Luella—that he had ever really wanted to be free.

Trip For Henry

It was on an afternoon two weeks after the rehearsal of the radio program that Henry came home earlier than his usual time. Luella, surprised, exclaimed, "Are you ill, darling?"

"No," Henry replied. "They let me off early in order to pack up and catch a train for Chicago." He laid down the brief-case he was carrying. "I've got to go out there and look into some sort of real estate proposition."

"You mean you're leaving right away?"

"Yep... Got to take a train from Grand Central Station at eight."

"Goodness!... That doesn't give us much time!" said Luella. "How long will you be gone?"

She tried to speak calmly, casually, but she was thinking: "Dear God, let him take me with him. Out there, away from Marie, he might be able to get back on the old basis—get to know each other again."

Henry was getting out of his coat and vest. "I'll probably be gone a week," he said. "Maybe longer. It all depends on what I find when I reach Chicago." He picked up the brief-case, the coat and the vest into the bedroom. "If you don't mind, I'd like you to pack my suitcase while I'm having a shower."

"Of course I don't mind!" said Luella brightly. "I'll be glad to."

She followed Henry into the bedroom, thinking—"Well, anyway he'll be out of Marie's reach, and that will be something!" She went over to the clothes closet, and opened the door. She took from a shelf the suitcase the boys down home had given Henry for a farewell present. "Are you going alone?" she asked.

Henry whirled on her. "Good lord, of course!" he said. "Who in the devil did you think I'd be taking with me?"

"Your wife," said Luella. "That's all."

Henry had the decency to look sheepish. "Sorry," he said. "Here of late I have the feeling that you think I'm dashing off somewhere with a female, if I'm late or the slightest bit noncommittal about my movements."

"Like your Uncle Peter?" said Luella. She got fresh underwear and shoes from the chiffonier drawer. "You know, the philanthropic family skeleton."

"Why bring him up?" said Henry.

"Oh, I don't know... I was just thinking. Aunt Lila used to worry a lot about you and your Uncle Peter. She was afraid you'd grow up to be like him."

Henry frowned at her, and went into the bathroom. He left the door open, and Luella could hear him splashing in the tub.

"I'm sorry I can't take you with me," he called out above the sound of the shower. "But I'll be pretty busy, and my expense allowance for the trip won't permit two people traveling."

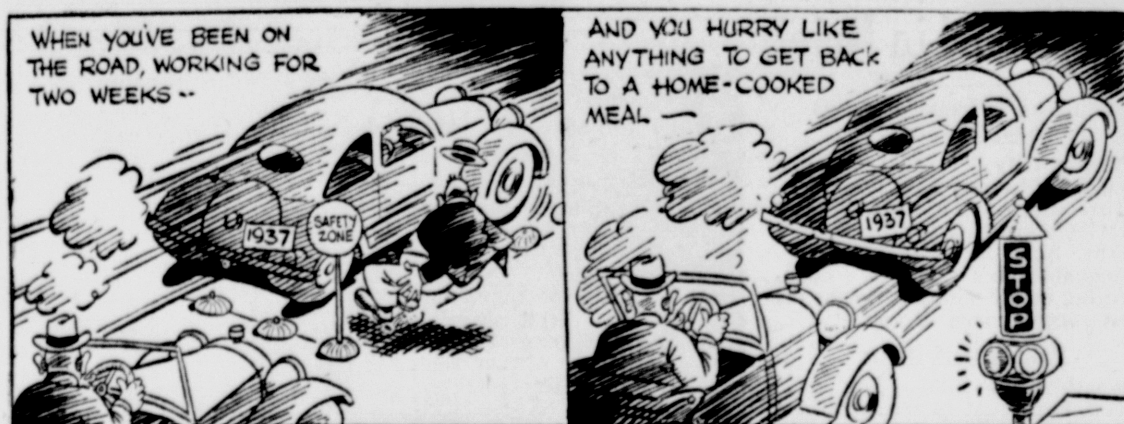

"That's all right," said Luella. Then when Henry came in, drying himself, she looked up and said: "I was thinking we might have a sort of second honeymoon."

Something Funny About Lefties
Miami, Fla. (P)—If left-handed persons will turn their hand (the left hand, please) to cartoon drawing, their chances of success are better than average. That is the opinion of Dave Fleischer of the Fleischer Studio here after a survey disclosed that 52 per cent of the 700 artists in his film cartoon plants are left-handed. "Considering that only 11 per cent of the entire population of the United States is left-handed," Fleischer said, "I naturally deduce from my studio survey that southpaws inherently must be artists."

Benefit Planned At Stone Ridge

The garden party for the benefit of the Stone Ridge Library will be held Saturday afternoon, July 19, from 3 to 6 o'clock, on the lawn near the swimming pool of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Hasbrouck in Stone Ridge.

The Stone Ridge Library is a pre-Revolutionary stone house given to the village by Mrs. Jonathan Dwight, as a memorial to her father, Garrett Decker Hasbrouck, who lived there most of his life. It was built prior to Washington's Headquarters, by Edward Lounsbury, a well known 18th century architect. Because of its fine selection of books, the library, which is free to all in the township of Marletown, has a rating in the state of 119 per cent.

A museum, housed on the upper floor, maintains a collection of historic clothing, books, manuscripts, and magazines. A recent addition has been two portraits of Garrett Decker Hasbrouck and his wife, Mrs. Julia Lawrence Hasbrouck, painted in 1840 by Francesco Anelli, a renowned miniature and portrait painter of New York.

The Frick Museum in New York city has shown great interest in the detailed diary, with commentaries on the times and the people, kept by Mrs. Julia Hasbrouck from 1835 to 1865. Among the other old books in the collection is one donated by Mrs. Catherine Cantine, a John Brown Bible which was the first Bible published in New York state and to which George Washington subscribed. Mrs. Frank Seaman of Yama Farms gave the book, "Old Mine Road," which is the tale of the oldest road in the United States, the familiar route 209, that goes from Kingston to Port Jervis.

Two old wills granting Ulster county and translated from the Dutch by Injou, Sylvester's "History of Ulster County," and a book on the early Dutch settlers of the county by Augustus Van Buren, are also among the treasures in this unique little museum.

Second Concert in Rehearsal
The Maverick Chorus has already started rehearsing for the second in the series of all-Bach concerts which it is presenting this summer at the Maverick Concert Hall, Woodstock. The concert, under the direction of Clifford Richter will be given Thursday evening, August 7.

The program will include the Coffee Cantata, a humorous work on the subject of coffee drinking. Other works will be the Church Cantatas Nos. 155, 55, and 182. Work on the Magnificat which will be presented at the final concert, August 28, has also started.

Schick-Thomas
Miss Margaret Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas of 9 Spruce street, was married to Charles E. Schick of Davis street, son of Mrs. William Dutton of Linderman avenue and the late Charles Schick. The ceremony was performed July 10, at St. Peter's Rectory by the Rev. Martin Schwalenberg. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emberson.

Judges Announced for Show
The judges who will officiate at the Katsbaan Horse Show which is being given for the benefit of the Red Cross, are Malcolm Graham and Charles M. Bernuth. Both men are recognized by the American Horse Show Association and are reportedly qualified as efficient judges.

St. George Choir To Give Annual Summer Concert
The annual summer concert by the St. George Choir will be given Sunday evening, July 20, at 8 o'clock at DeWitt Lake. O. Roy Green, director, and his counselors will have charge of the concert. The members of the boy's choir will sing from boats and from the diving tower so that the program may be heard at all parts of the lake. The program arranged by Prof. Green will be similar to that which was given July 4, at Washington's Headquarters in Newburgh.

Grenfell Society Plans Annual Tea

The Mid-Hudson Grenfell Association was organized as a branch of the American Grenfell Association by interested people in Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh. This group was formed after a visit of Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, who acquainted the people with the conditions in Labrador.

In an effort to contribute to the cause the Mid-Hudson Association has held a lawn party every year either at Kingston, Poughkeepsie or Newburgh. Three parties have been held in Kingston, one at Poughkeepsie and one at Newburgh.

This year the annual event was to have been held at Poughkeepsie but due to illness the management was unable to make plans. Each year Labrador products are sold at the Lake Mohonk Mountain House and they have arranged to hold both affairs July 23, 4 to 6 p. m. Autos will enter the hotel grounds at Mountain Rest where pilots will conduct them to the entrance of the hotel.

President G. D. B. Hasbrouck urges a generous attendance. He feels that the good work of Dr. Grenfell should not be permitted to cease because of his death.

Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Hollister Sturges, Jr., Mrs. Roger Loughran, Dr. M. E. Moore, David Burgevin, Mrs. Eloise Lovatt and Miss Eleanor Easton.

There is a projected meeting of the management committee Thursday, July 17, when the details of the tea will be determined. Members of the management committee are Mrs. Eloise Lovatt, Mrs. Hollister Sturges, Jr., Mrs. C. W. Hasbrouck, Mrs. Roger Loughran, Miss Emily Rice and Miss Eleanor Easton.

Ulster Garden Club Meeting
The Ulster Garden Club held its second July meeting at the West Park Parish House yesterday afternoon. Hostesses were Mrs. William Van Benschoten and Mrs. Theodore Oxholm.

The speaker of the day was Julian Burroughs who gave an illustrated talk on Ulster County Flora. All of the slides were reproductions in color of photographic plates from the collection of Mr. Burroughs.

Each member of the club had the privilege of bringing a guest and the president and a member of the Saugerties and Kingston Little Gardens Clubs were also invited guests.

Personal Notes

Dr. and Mrs. John A. Olivet of 231 Washington avenue will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Partlan in New York city tomorrow.

Mrs. Robert Stickle, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Ola Whipple, and children, also Miss Jessie Rosa and Mrs. Robert Shults, have returned home after a trip to Niagara Falls and Canada where they visited the Dionne quintuplets.

Paul Cahill of the U. S. Navy, who is stationed at New London, Conn., visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cahill, of 129 Pine Grove avenue, for the week-end.

Accompanying Mr. Cahill was Paul Marks of Buffalo, who is enrolled at the naval signal school in New London.

Pvt. Joseph Disch was home over the week-end from Fort Tilden. On Sunday he and Mrs. Disch celebrated their ninth wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Harold Herdman of 27 Lucas avenue has returned from Highmount where she spent a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wenz and daughter, Joan, of Jersey City, are spending two weeks at the home of Michael Brown of Garden street.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Brugman, who lived at 324 Wall street, are now occupying a newly furnished home in Bloomington.

Mrs. Jeannette Hinkley of Lucas avenue and Miss Mary Spencer of Washington avenue are visiting at Greenwood Lake at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Yerkes of New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. Torm Larsen and son, Torm, of 18 Hurley avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Francis of 93 Hurley avenue attended the auto races at Castle Hill race track last Friday night.

Miss Kathryn Dressel of 40 St. James street is spending 10 days at the seashore on Long Island. She is the guest of Miss Jane Gildersleepe.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Carlier of Elmira are visiting Mrs. Carlier's sister, Mrs. Clarence Dumm, at her home on Mt. View avenue, for a few days.

Ulster Garden Club Meeting

When Husband and Wife Cannot Agree on Whose Parents They Stay With During a Visit.

On the face of it there is the hint of a "first quarrel" in the following letter: "My husband and I are making plans to pay our first visit back to our home-town since we were married. Both sets of parents live there. I think we ought to stay with my parents and he says no, we must stay with his. Both houses are big so it is not a question which can be decided by space. Who is right? Do you think we could settle it by each of us staying with our own family? What started out as a very unimportant question is turning into something threatening to be a problem in dead earnest. I think the wife's parents have first call because a woman is home more. He says it is of great importance that a wife adapt herself to the family whose name she now bears."

My answer to this is that you are letting it become much too serious. I think you had better settle your differences by making plans to stay half time with each family. If this brings a second discussion as to which family comes first, I think the only way to decide this is to draw straws. Of course if it happens that you are an only child, and your husband is one of many, it would perhaps be fair to stay with your family for this reason. Also another reason for choosing one house rather than the other would—as you said—be the question of size. But in any case, going your separate ways would certainly cause discussion, people would be likely to wonder whether your marriage were turning out very well.

Replacing a Wedding Ring
Dear Mrs. Post: My mother's wedding ring long ago became so thin that she had to discard it. This has never been replaced because my father has had all he could do to provide the necessities for the family. Mother being very sentimental, I know she minded very much not wearing a wedding ring. Now that my sister and I for the first time have jobs which pay enough so we can save a little over, would it be proper if we bought mother a new ring, possibly letting father choose it?

Answer: Certainly you can do this. Perhaps best of all you can have the old ring (or at least part of it) welded inside of the new one so that the part of it next to her finger would be her own ring. I know this can be done because I once saw such a ring, but whether the old one had gold built up over it or whether the old one was fitted inside of a new one, I don't know.

Ladies' Day at Twaalfskill
About 30 women attended Ladies' Day at the Twaalfskill Club yesterday. A luncheon was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Frederic Holcomb and Mrs. Thomas Goldrick. After lunch, bridge was played and a tournament was also held. Next week the hostesses will be Mrs. Robert Herzog and Mrs. John B. Krom.

Williams Band Stated For Red Cross Benefit
An added attraction on the program of the Red Cross benefit horse show to be held at Katsbaan, July 26, will be the appearance of the Ernest Williams School Symphony Band of 60 pieces.

Between the hours of two and five o'clock, the band, under the direction of Dr. Ernest Williams, will present a concert which will coincide with the complete program for the day.

The horse show will be held at the Smith, Boys' Riding School at Katsbaan, Saturday, July 26, and proceeds will be donated to the Ulster County Chapter American Red Cross.

Woodstock

By JANE KENNEDY

Last week-end at the Maverick Theatre Mr. Clovelly had the audience as well as his student cast under his direction when he presented the mystery drama, "The Night of January 16th." The jury was chosen from the audience and when court was called we all rose to the top of the judge's gavel. Mr. Clovelly was hidden under a deft make-up of droopy mustache and tanned hair and made an amusing Mr. Chips sort of judge. Jack Woods was clerk of the court. It was an especially entertaining trial play as there was so much humor in the lines and the witnesses were all characters. It gave a student cast just the right sort of chance to do much good character acting and they handled it beautifully. Edith Clinton in her slick tailored clothes was the doctor. As usual her wonderful diction and ability to do any part justice was evident even in her short testimony. Happily her beauty was not lost under the rather severe costume and precise professional voice. Aster Hayden as the colored janitor's wife afforded a delightful bit of amusement. She was very good both in actions, dialect and the get up. Paul Welch as Homer Van Fleet, the nonchalantly wise-cracking detective was excellent; Frank Folio, the policeman on the beat, played by Bob Greene, also afforded a great deal of amusement with New Yorker's accent and his easy manner. Betty Dillon as Nancy Lee Faulkner, the spoiled daughter of the rich, sustained her difficult part throughout the play and proved herself a good actress as most of the time her part called for facial expression rather than lines. A choice bit of character acting was done by Sheila Wilson as the Swedish housekeeper who was outraged by the goings on and in priceless dialect. Her walk and costume were wonderful. Natalie Hyde as Robert Van Rensselaer, the blonde moll, left no doubts as to what she was and plenty tough in a decorative way. Griff Evans had an excellent chance in his part as the Swede Sigurd Junquist. He had quite a heavy emotional part and did a very convincing. Don Haggerty had a very suitable part for his talents as the gangster Larry Reagan. It was a sympathetic part and he gave it everything and was amusing while being questioned by the stern district attorney played by Joe Graham. To my way of thinking, the beautiful Sally Green had her first real opportunity to shine in the part of Karen Anders. She held me completely in the world of make believe and I am sure I was not the only one as the jury gave a verdict of not guilty. Friday and Saturday evenings and the audience quite approved.

There is a sidewalk exhibition of paintings, sponsored by Lillian Frederick-Folice outside her Little Show Around the Corner. The show is changed every Saturday and there are some familiar names among the artists but Mr. Folice told me it is mainly to give the younger unknowns a chance to show. In the charming little shop one can find almost anything, jewelry, bric-a-brac and all the fascinating odds and ends one finds in out of the way curiosity shops. Mrs. Frederick-Folice has there many of her own canvases which she painted in Florida last winter. The shop is right around the corner from the main highway and next to Delores the Hairdresser.

Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Town Hall, Mary Woiceske, daughter of Woodstock's famous etcher, will be presented in her first concert of the season by her teacher, Alexis Sanderson. Miss Woiceske has been heard over Kingston's WKNY radio station and will continue to sing on a regular weekly program throughout the summer. Mr. Sanderson tells me that admission is free and the public is invited.

Excuses No Substitute
For Charming Letters

Helpful Pointers Needed!

Tempting to write excuses—"so busy"—when you aren't good at letters. But don't! Nobody's fooled and some are offended—and you can write good letters.

It's as simple as this! In the minute it takes you to write "must rush now" look around you. If you're on vacation, you might see the fellow who's such a peppy caller at the square dances. Or the lady who had 13 operations. Or the social director whose moustache wiggles when he says "Having fun?" Write about them!

At home? Gay, newsy material is easy to find in just the simple things you do every day. You made yourself a broomstick skirt—a really cute one. You're learning to dive but so far you're a flop! You can write a charming bread-and-butter letter, too.

like "such a good time," enjoyed every minute.

Only, do watch your grammar! Slips like "different than" instead of "different from" and "you was" for "you were" spell an otherwise delightful letter.

Our 32-page booklet gives tips on writing vivid, amusing, correct letters. Has 24 model letters for all occasions—formal, informal and business. Helps you enrich your vocabulary, improve grammar.

Send 10 cents in coin for your copy of GOOD LETTER-WRITING MADE EASY to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

City's Aluminum Drive Is Opened

About 100 Workers Attend City Hall Meeting and Today Go Into Action

The aluminum recovery campaign in the city swung into high gear today after a meeting of about 100 workers and ward chairmen, at the City Hall last night.

Thomas Horton, chairman of the Kingston Defense Council, and Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman explained the acute need for scrap aluminum and explained the set-up for the campaign as arranged by the organization committee. Aluminum is being used in industry much faster than the combined output of this metal. Therefore a thorough campaign to recover every available piece of scrap aluminum, which can be spared without the need for replacement, must be made.

Several ward meetings have already been arranged, to which every citizen and particularly the workers, are urged to attend. Meetings announced by the respective aldermen are as follows: Second Ward—Thursday evening, July 17, at 8 o'clock in the Ramsey Memorial Hall, corner of Tremper avenue and Elmendorf street. Third Ward—Thursday evening, July 17, at 8 o'clock in the court room of the City Hall. Fourth Ward—Thursday, July 17, at 8 o'clock in the White Eagle Hall. Sixth Ward—Friday evening, July 18, at 7 o'clock in the Downtown Youth Center. Seventh Ward—Thursday evening, July 17, at 8 o'clock in the Cornell Fire Station.

Preliminary reports indicate that a big volume of aluminum will be collected. Mrs. Lena Kline of McEntee street called the publicity committee this morning and already had the promise of numerous items from Dr. Arthur M. Cran. The reason being that a quantity of cooking utensils which he did not care to use, are stored in the attic. Mayor Heiselman reported last night that the aluminum campaign will settle a weighty domestic problem in his home. Mrs. Heiselman has a large aluminum frying pan which she likes to use but it burns the food every time it is used. This makes an ideal excuse to get rid of it and at the same time assist in a national defense program.

The alderman of each ward, as ward chairman of this drive, would appreciate it if citizens would volunteer their services in the aluminum campaign. The time is short and one man does not have time to organize sufficient workers to make the two complete house-to-house canvasses which are planned. The first canvass is to be made before next Tuesday and will be done largely by women workers. They will explain the need for the campaign and ask housewives, store managers, plant operators, etc., to look around and set aside every available piece of scrap aluminum. Starting on Tuesday, July 22, the men workers will make the second visit and collect all of the aluminum donations. Each day they will be picked up at each ward collection center and transported to a central storage bin somewhere on central Broadway.

A series of special radio programs over station WKNY have been arranged. Each evening at 8:15, starting tonight, speakers, announcements and entertainment will be included in this special "Aluminum Recovery Program." Tonight Mayor Heiselman will speak at the request of Chairman Horton and Thursday night Mr. Horton will be heard.

This is the first time the general public has an opportunity to help in the very essential defense efforts. The interest and enthusiasm shown to date indicates that the vast majority want to do something. It indicates that democracy does work, especially in an emergency.

About the Folks

Mrs. William Martin is ill at her home, 27 Taylor street.

Mrs. Herbert Ostrander, who was badly burned at her home on Hurley avenue seven weeks ago, is improving at the Kingston Hospital.

O'Dwyer Designated

New York, July 16 (AP)—William O'Dwyer, 51, Irish-born Brooklyn district attorney and one-time laborer and policeman, was designated as the Democratic candidate for mayor today by the five Democratic county leaders of New York city. Mayor F. H. La Guardia, who has indicated he would not be adverse to a third term, has twice beaten Tammany Hall with Republican, American Labor party and Fusion support. Although the county leaders' selections are for all practical purposes the actual designations, technically they are recommendations to the various county organizations for ratification.

Discussions Open

Washington, July 16 (AP)—The United States has opened discussions with Argentina for large purchases of strategic minerals and metals as the latest step in a program expected to result in purchases of $500,000,000 worth of defense raw materials annually from the other American republics.

To Hold Picnic

Thursday afternoon the annual basket lunch picnic and outing of the Sunday school of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church will be held at DeWitt Lake. A bus will leave the church at 2 o'clock that afternoon.

ground. Soviet aircraft losses to date were listed by DNB at 7,182. Newspapers in Berlin joined in a bitter chorus against President Roosevelt after the semi-official Deutsche Diplomatisch-Politische Korrespondenz declared he was trying to push the United States into war "arm in arm with Bolshevism."

A few German bombers attacked south and east coast areas of England during the night as the British stuck doggedly to their night-after-night hammering of industrial northwestern Germany.

London and Berlin each called the other's air attacks ineffective and said damage was slight.

Fortunately for those who enjoy delicious sweet corn, which is now on the market, the infestation of European corn borers is light this year, it was learned today.

Last year the loss from this pest was serious, but apparently the early season has caused a low infestation this year. Most farmers carefully inspect sweet corn, before it is sold, and throw away all infested ears.

Several fields inspected by the Farm Bureau showed no infestation of the ears. Borers were found in some of the stalks, but the ear infestation was negligible. This is fortunate for both the farmer and the consumer.

Fresh sweet corn on the cob is one of the most delicious of vegetables and is grown locally in large volume. The problem of corn borer control has been a serious problem and extensive research is being conducted on various methods of control.

Corn borers appear usually in two cycles, one of which may infest very early corn and one at the time very late crops mature. The early cycle has produced little damage in this locality and from now on and during August there is expected to be practically no damage to local crops by borers.

Service Men Will Draw Numbers in Thursday Lottery

Washington, July 16 (AP)—Selective service men who already have risen to the grade of non-commissioned officers will draw most of the numbers in tomorrow night's (7 p. m., E. S. T.), supplemental draft lottery.

Eight hundred capsules, each containing a piece of paper on which the sequence numbers are marked, repose in a treasury vault where they were taken yesterday.

The capsules will be removed tomorrow evening and taken to the scene of the drawing, which will determine the order of calling up the 750,000 21-year-olds who registered July 1.

The new "non-coms" are to draw all the remaining capsules after the first ones have been drawn by blindfolded cabinet officers, members of Congress, war and navy department officials, and representatives of veterans' organizations. The ceremony will be at the inter-departmental auditorium.

Late today the same goldfish bowl from which last year's numbers were drawn was to arrive from Independence Hall in Philadelphia.

Consumption of tinplate used in manufacture of tin cans and tinware in the U. S. annually amounts to over 1,750,000 tons, according to the Census.

Baltimore Elites Will Face Slants of Charlie Neff Tonight

Packed House Is Expected for Game At City Stadium

Recreations Seek Revenge for Last Year's Loss; Ostrom, Maines and Ashdown Top Batters

Charlie Neff, the New Paltz fireball artist, will take the wraps off his valuable right arm tonight at municipal stadium when the famous Baltimore Elite Giants and the Kingston Recreations tangle in what promises to be the outstanding battle of the campaign. Game time is scheduled for 9:15 o'clock.

Neff has been idle since his 3 to 0 loss at the hands of the colorful Brooklyn Dodger Rookies in a game which he sent 11 batters back to the bench via the strike-out route. Charlie's record for the year is one victory and a defeat. However, in those contests he has fanned 32 batters.

Giants Have Sluggers

CHARLIE NEFF

In battling the Elites tonight the Recs will need every ounce of strength that Charlie can throw up to Felton Snow and his Negro National League club. The Elites are dangerous batters, from the first batter to the pitcher. Kingston's main hope to spring an upset on the powerful negro club is Charlie Neff. If Charlie is on, the Elites will be in for a busy night. If not, Manager Joe Hoffman will have to call on Al Proia, Jimmy Martin or Bob Bush.

Last year the Elites rapped Kingston around for an unmerciful 19 to 4 lacing. But that was last year. Now the Recs have an improved ball club as the latest victories over Poughkeepsie and Endicott prove. The entire ball club has taken on a new lease. One of the real reasons why the Recs have shown improvement is Andy Celuch, the third sacker. Andy's hitting is on an upgrade along with his needed flawless fielding.

Tough Assignment

Taking on the Baltimore club will be the biggest assignment for the Recreations. The local club has won seven games and dropped four this year, against some of the stiffest opposition any semi-pro club could come up against. Now the Recs, after getting triumphs over the Roe Movers and Endicott, are seeking to make it three in a row over the troublesome Elites.

Rated among the best of negro ball clubs, the Elites have power, speed, good fielding and an outstanding mound department. The recent trade with the Black Yankees has given the club additional strength, as if the club needed it. Johnny Washington, former Yank, is one of these players who will show his skill at the stadium tonight. Washington, a clever first sacker, also wields a wicked piece of lumber. It's going to be interesting to see how the first baseman stacks up against Neff, probably the best hurler in these parts.

Providing the Elites find Charlie Neff when he's in top-flight pitching form, all of these terrific batting averages won't do the club much good. The visitors boast of such clouters as Bill Hoskins, Washington, Homer Butts, Bill Curry, Felton Snow, the manager, and many others.

Good Elite Hurlers

The Elites also will feature a nifty looking pitching staff in the game tonight. The Recs, with but three hitters above the 300 mark, will find the going tough against any of the moundsmen. Manager Snow happens to toss it. However, Kingston was looking at some great hurling in Dom Kolodok Sunday night and managed to belt him around in good fashion. Kolodok offered the Recs a mighty good exhibition on fast hurling but his deception didn't last.

A fast and good-hitting infield of Billy Ostrom, Eddie Sabo, Charlie Francello and Andy Celuch will make a lot of difference tonight. All of this quartet have been playing great ball. Ostrom, a dream to watch on defense, should make a good showing also with his powerful bat.

Individual Averages

	AB	R	H	Av.
Ostrom	9	3	6	.667
Maines	32	10	312
Ashdown	26	9	8	.307
Kowalek	7	0	2	.285
Francello	42	9	11	.261

Following are the probable line-ups:

Elite Giants—Curry, rf; Snow, 2b; Washington, 1b; Hoskins, lf; Scales, 3b; Butts, ss; Biot, cf; Campanello, c; Barnes, p.

Recreations—Ashdown, lf; Francello, ss; Maines, cf; Ostrom, 1b; Sabo, 2b; Celuch, 3b; Tiano, rf; Thomas, rf; Grace, c; Neff, p.

CITY SOFTBALL LEAGUE

At Hasbrouck Park Monday night Hercules defeated Fullers in a scheduled City League game by 16 to 4. The winners collected 17 hits, including homers by Bob Hanley, George Partlan (2) and Hank Krum. Eddie Bock and Al Styles slashed out round-trippers for the losing club.

The Score:

Hercules ... 127 123—16 20
Fullers ... 103 000—4 8 5

Batters: Hercules, J. Kennedy; Hornbeck and Styles.

BASEBALL INSURANCE

Smart basemen, while on third base, always stay on fourth ground while ball is being pitched to avoid possibility of being struck by far line drives and thus being retired. Deacon Bill McKechnie can vouch for the speed of those hits as a result of his recent incapacity.

Wilbur Girls Beat Freeman Printers In Softball, 5 to 4

Girls Overcome Deficit With Three in Second, Two in Fifth to Take Ball Game

Spotting the Freeman Printers three runs in the initial frame, the Wilbur Girls' softball team scored an upset victory last night at the M.J.M. diamond by winning the ball game 5 to 4 in seven innings. About 150 fans witnessed the contest.

The Freeman club, using 10 left hand swingers, found the offerings of Helen Gessex for 15 blows but failed to collect them when it counted. Lou Netter did the flinging for the losers and permitted 12 hits.

Three markers were pushed across by the Printers in the opening session. Then in the second frame the Wilbur Girls' club, managed by Meh Lynch, tied it up with three more. The girls took a 5-3 lead in the fifth. One more tally was shoved across for the Printers in the last half of the sixth but that was the end. Helen Gessex kept the Printers from knotting the count in the last of the seventh and went on to notch the triumph.

New York Leaders Play Indians Three Games; Dodgers to Engage Cards Tonight

(By The Associated Press)

Both major leagues have reached a crisis in their pennant races at the same time, by some coincidence, and the eventual world series rivals may be tabbed before the week-end.

In the next three days the ram-paging New York Yankees might settle their American League argument in three games with the second-place Cleveland Indians and the Brooklyn Dodgers will clash twice with the St. Louis Cardinals for mastery of the National League.

33,247 See Dodgers

The Dodgers swept two games from the Chicago Cubs yesterday, 7-0 and 8-4. Curt Davis pitched a four-hit masterpiece in the first, facing only 28 men as the result of three double-plays. In the night-cap Luke Hamlin pitched a six-hitter. The Dodgers bunched four runs in the second inning of the opener and four in the first inning of the afterpiece. It was all accomplished so easily the virtual capacity crowd of 33,247 at Ebbets Field felt their heroes had become a shoo-in for the championship.

Meanwhile the Cards had to go 16 innings to wring out a 3-2 victory over the tail-end Phillies. They were held to two hits by Ike Pearson in the last seven innings, but loaded the bases in the 16th and dribbled home the winning run on a fly by Jimmy Brown. Howard Krist got credit for his seventh straight victory after half-loaded the Phils in the 11th when they loaded the bases with none out.

This gave Brooklyn a four-game lead coming up to the crucial series. The Yankees nosed out the Chicago White Sox, 5-4, yesterday while the Boston Red Sox curbed Cleveland, 6-2, and pushed the Indians five games out of the lead.

Rosar Hits Triple

Joe DiMaggio doubled and singled and was on base four times out of five trips to the plate, stretching his phenomenal hitting streak to 55 consecutive tilts, but the heavy-duty drive in the Yankee triumph was provided by Boudy Rosar, triple with the bases loaded in the third and by Norman Branch's relief pitching. The Indians were held to four hits by Joe Dobson, whom Cleveland gave to Boston last winter in their big six-player deal. The Red Sox raided Mel Harder and Clint Brown for 10 safeties, including a two-run homer by Lou Finney.

In the other action yesterday Buck Newsom showed he is rounding into form again by holding the Philadelphia Athletics to seven hits as the Detroit Tigers eked out a 3-2 decision. Barney McCosky homered for the deciding run.

Vandy Blanks Braves

John Vander Meer smothered the Boston Braves, 3-0, on four hits for his fourth shutout as the Cincinnati Reds made good use of their eight blows off Al Javery and Johnny Hutchings. The New York Giants made four errors and gave four unearned runs in kicking away a 5-1 verdict to the Pittsburgh Pirates, who benefited from a seven-hit pitching performance by big Max Butcher.

Block Community Night

This evening at 8:15 o'clock another community night will be held at Block Park. It is hoped to have the Blue Ridge Ramblers as the guest entertainers.

Billy Knubout will be back with his dancing doll for the first performance of the year. Two tiny vocalists will be the next number on the program. Betty Smith will be back to sing in her own inimitable manner.

The contest for the evening will be pie-eating to be climaxed by dancing on the pavilion. Everybody is invited.

Herzog Approves Street

Project in Port Ewen

Lester W. Herzog, state administrator of the Works Projects Administration has approved a project for the improvement of approximately 1,160 feet of streets in Port Ewen.

Mr. Herzog's approval carries a federal grant of $3,685 for labor and $211 for materials. The town of Esopus, sponsor of the project, will contribute $2,503.

The project will open a section of the village where there has been considerable building activity and will replace a street which is one way and impassable after storms and thaws.

American fountain pens and mechanical pencils are being used in Ceylon.

Story-Telling Club Is Organized

Freeman Photo

Last week Forsyth Park organized a new type of club in conjunction with the supervised play. The club is known as the Forsyth Park Story Club and meets every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 2 o'clock. Every member brings and reads a story and reads aloud to the group. Jacqueline Lenninger is president and Katherine Rafferty is secretary, and the club was organized by Director Blanche Kirshenblum. Yesterday the girls were reading the popular novel, "My Sister and I."

Woodstock to Hold Water Carnival on Saturday, July 19

Committee Has Announced Entry Field Is Triple That of Last Year; Vic Till Directs

The second annual Woodstock Water Carnival will be held at the Country Club pool Saturday afternoon, July 19, at 2 o'clock. To date, the club announces the entry field has tripled its size compared to 1940.

This meet is the second of the A.A.U. Adirondack District and will be interesting from the standpoint that many star swimmers and divers from all over the state will participate.

The meet is under the direction of Vic Till, former world's record relay swimmer and coach of many championship swimming teams. Besides the regular A.A.U. championship events, there will be trick and stunt diving contests, novelty obstacle races and many other amusing highlights.

In 1940 the club undertook the carnival merely to round out its athletic program. Since the occasion proved to be such a success, the committee in charge decided to make arrangements for the event once again.

GRANGE NEWS

Patron Grange

The July meeting of the Grange was held in their rooms on Monday evening with Master G. B. Schoonmaker presiding.

Archie Davis, chairman of the Boy Scout committee for the card party sponsored by the Grange, announced that the evening of games would be held in the Anderson roller rink on August 14 and that the public was urged to attend. Bridge, pinocle and dominoes will be provided for. A nominal charge will be made and refreshments will be on sale. The committee is: Mrs. Percy W. Gazlay, Mrs. G. B. Schoonmaker and Mrs. Ben Davis. The committee on the Grange fair booth at Forsyth Park August 20 reported progress. Miss Norma Conklin was added to the committee.

The degree team with Robert Kelder as master put on the third and fourth degrees.

The raised biscuit contest in charge of the service and hospitality committee, Mrs. G. B. Schoonmaker, chairman, was won as follows by Mrs. Elton Dupuy, 94 percent; Mrs. S. F. Kelder, 82 percent; Mrs. Charles Osborne, 81 percent. The judges were Miss Bertha Coons and Mrs. Edward Davenport.

On account of the degree work, the lecturer, Mrs. Percy W. Gazlay had a short program assisted by Mrs. Marion Sahler, Leis Road and Mrs. Ben Davis. Worthly Master and Mrs. G. B. Schoonmaker invited the Grange and their families to come to their camp on Honk Lake at Napanoch Sunday afternoon and evening, July 20. This will be a basket picnic and all persons who have attended the Grange card parties are invited to come also. Plenty of refreshing drinks will be provided by the Schoonmakers, so it will be necessary for the families to pack their basket only. The camp is on the east bank of the lake and can be reached by the Continental road, Jennie brook or Grahamsville road.

Fire in Attic

Shortly after 3 o'clock this morning Dominick LaTorre of 13 St. Mary's street called the fire department stating that there was a fire in the attic at his home, but he had extinguished it. Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said that an investigation showed that entrance to the attic was gained through a trap door and that no one had been in the attic in several months. It is thought that the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion. The damage was slight.

County Volunteers Meet at Port Ewen Tuesday Evening

Work of marking the examination papers of the volunteers who took the examination at the closing session of the county volunteer firemen's school held in this city earlier in the year, has not been completed. It was announced Tuesday evening at the monthly meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association held in Port Ewen.

It was stated that as soon as the work of rating the papers was completed that each candidate would be notified of his standing.

The county firemen met at Port Ewen last night as the guests of the Port Ewen, Esopus, St. Remy and Connelly fire departments.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of this city urged the volunteer firemen to assist in the county-wide drive to collect used aluminum that will be staged commencing July 21, and he also suggested that fire prevention measures and training courses in first aid would be valuable additions to Ulster county's defense program.

L. E. Dunne was elected delegate to the State Firemen's Convention to be held in August in Geneva.

Following the business meeting, entertainment was furnished by the St. Remy and Esopus fire departments. There were an accordion solo by Albert Smith of St. Remy and a vocal solo by Parker Sheeley of Esopus. The Apple Knocker Trio also rendered several musical selections. The members of the trio were Joseph and Charles Gugger and Floyd Barringer, all of Esopus.

Refreshments were served at the close. There was an attendance of approximately 250 volunteer firemen from all sections of the county.
